RALPH

McGILL

A Chapter Out of History

NEW YORK CITY — Coming out of the theater, I thought how odd it was that so many persons were weeping. Some were laughing apologetically as they wiped away tears and some were saying, "I just don't care. That's how I felt." But, then, I realized that my own cheeks, too, were wet, and I walked out into the cold night air still caught up with the emotion of seeing Ralph Bellamy play Franklin Roosevelt in the play "Sunrise at Campobello."

Going down the alley to the stage door, I remembered Bellamy as a young man in 1928 playing in his father's summer stock company at Nashville, Tenn. We were friends then, a young reporter and a young actor. Bellamy played a new role every week.

His career has been a great one, with many stage and moving picture successes but this play is his most tremendous role. It begins with Franklin D. Roosevelt and his family at the vacation island of Campobello, Canada. The children are young and so is their mother Eleanor. And Franklin feels a chill and fever as he goes up the stairs to bed.

The play is a chapter out of history, for none of it, or almost none of it, is fiction. Louis Howe, superbly played by Henry Jones, is there. And we watch Roosevelt begin to rebuild himself and his political career. The family allowed the use of some very personal things out of their lives.

A Great Scene

One of the great scenes is Roosevelt revealing to his young wife his fear of fire and his statement that he has been practicing crawling. So, laboriously, he moves himself from the wheel chair to the floor and crawls backward out of the room, dragging his paralyzed legs along, and giving a gay wave as he goes.

Alone in the room he practiced trying to lift himself on his crutches. There are falls, but always he manages, painfully and with heart-breaking effort, to get back in his chair, retrieve the crutches, and try again.

All this the real Roosevelt did. The battle he made to attain strength enough to be able to swing himself along with crutches was a tremendous, agonizing job. Roosevelt was very badly crippled, yet so well did he learn to handle himself that he gave the illusion of being much less crippled than he was.

The climax of the play is Roosevelt's appearance at Madison Square Garden to nominate Al Smith for the presidency in 1928. It is preceded by two warming and touching little scenes. One is the call by Al Smith to look at the crippled man and to feel him out about the nominating speech. When he has agreed Roosevelt knows he will have to take 10 steps to the podium.

In Final Act

Next to the last scene in the final act is the nervous waiting in a grimy little anteroom. Sound, taken from actual conventions, fills the theater with its roaring violence and one has the feeling that the great crowd actually is just off-stage.

Then comes the word. The theater darkens. The curtain comes down. It rises. Before the theatrical audience is a speaker's platform. On it sit the usual row of men seen at such meetings.

There is much pounding of the gavel and we see Roosevelt lock his braces to hold the legs straight. He is helped to stand and the crutches are put under his arms. Then, for the first time since his paralysis, he walks 10 steps. To be sure it is not really a walk. He pulls himself along with the strength of his arms and shoulders. The theater was silent Then, when Bellamy reaches the podium and stands straight up, without crutches, and waves to the roaring, if invisible, convention crowd, is the high point of the drama. For the moment it is Roosevelt and we all share the triumphs. The play ends there. But we know the rest of the story.

Bellamy has lost some 15 pounds in playing this really arduous role. But he obtains great satisfaction from it, and so does the audience.

This is the anniversary month of the real beginning of what came to be known as Roosevelt's one hundred days, when he moved to bring the nation out of depression and its sick, morbid state of mind. He had great courage and imagination and boldness. They are good qualities for troubled times.

ROAD BY J. R. DUNN'S LAKE REPORTEDLY SURVEYED FOR PAVING

County Officials Not Informed of Some State Highway Work

Appling Board Pleaded To Keep Road Contract from J. R. Dunn

By JACK NELSON
Constitution Staff Writer

BAXLEY—The Appling County commissioners say they had to go to Atlanta to plead that a rural road contract be let on a bid basis so it wouldn't go to J. R. Dunn, chairman of the State Merit Board.

The commissioners said Dunn already had done some work on the road, and they were extremely dissatisfied with his work. They said the work was done under a county contract let by the Rural Roads Authority after the project previously had been advertised for public bid.

The commissioners were interviewed twice in groups by an Atlanta Constitution reporter. Chairman Lamar Sellers and all five other commissioners — W. F. Miles, W. B. Cain Jr., A. O. Eason, Dr. W. D. Branch and J. S. Lightsey—were present at the first meeting. All but Eason, Branch and Lightsey were at the second meeting. County Attorney Milton Grainger attended both meetings

COMMISSIONERS' STORY

Here is the story the commissioners and Grainger told of their dealings with J. R. Dunn and R. A. (Cheney) Griffin, brother and aide of Gov. Marvin Griffin:

In March, 1957, the commissioners and Grainger went to Atlanta to see if state officials would allow them to have a 4½-mile section of Zora road constructed under a public bid contract.

J. R. Dunn had gotten a county contract for the first seven miles of grading and basing the road. The commissioners were dissatisfied with the work he had done on the road. The grading and basing took two years.

TO SEE CHALKER

In Atlanta, the commissioners went to see Roy Chalker, who represents their district on the State Highway Board.

J. R. Dunn's brother, Mayor J. M. (Buck) Dunn, who does road work in Baxley under state-city contracts, was in Chalker's office when the commissioners got there.

Mayor Dunn told the commissioners he was "defending" his brother, J. R. Dunn, and pointing out to Chalker that wet weather had delayed work on Zora road. (The weather had been dry, according to Commissioner Miles.)

PUBLIC BID

Chalker told the commissioners that as far as he was concerned, they could have the work done under a public bid contract. But he told them to work through

Fight Integration Here, Vandiver Tells Mayor

Lt. Gov. Ernest Vandiver Friday suggested Atlanta Mayor Hartsfield "devote his energies" to preventing race mixing in the city's schools rather than fighting the county unit system.

Vandiver, an unofficial candidate for governor, said the Atlanta mayor "seems determined to divide us and to weaken us within when we should present a united front to the nation."

The lieutenant governor issued a statement attacking Hartsfield after the mayor hinted a possible court action to overturn the unit system .

Earlier, there were reports Hartsfield was spearheading a drive to run an independent candidate for governor next November in the general election on an anti-county unit platform.

NO UNIT IN ELECTION

The unit system, which packs the balance of political power in the hands of the state's small rural counties, applies to party primaries but not to the general election.

Hartsfield Friday denied plans for independent action in the November general election. But he dropped hints a new effort may be made soon to have the unit system knocked out in the courts.

Previous court actions against the unit system have all met failure.

State Democratic Chairman John Sammons Bell of Atlanta said "anyone who runs as an independent in the general election against a nominee of the state Democratic Party would be a bolter from the Georgia Democratic Party."

STOPS CITY MACHINES

Vandiver said the unit system stops "city political machines," "bloc voting," and "pro-integration, would-be dictators" at the county line. Referring to Hartsfield's attacks on the system, he said:

"He had best devote his energies toward preventing a mixing of the races in the classrooms in the public schools in his city."

A suit has been filed in Federal

Governor Can Probe, Griffin Says

Gov. Griffin declared Friday that "there is plenty of law on the statue books" authorizing him and the attorney general to investigate allegations of wrongdoing in the state government.

He made the comment at his press conference in reference to the Senate "watchdog" committee's request for legal assistance from Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook in its investigation of state operations.

Griffin, who returned to his office after several days of fishing off the Florida coast, again said he had no intention of asking Cook for an official ruling on the Senate committee's legality.

The governor contends the group is illegally constituted.

"There is plenty of law on the statute books for an adequate investigation of the state government but none whatsoever on the

State Faces $5 Million Gas Boost

New Rate Fixed In a Compromise

Georgians probably will have to pay about $5,800,000 more on their gas bills in the next year.

In a compromise agreement reached in Washington Friday, Southern Natural Gas Co. scaled down its demands for a rate boost to $11,100,000 which will be passed along to consumers.

The compromise still must receive the approval of the Federal Power Commission.

If approved, the new scale will go into effect on April 15, Georgia Public Service Commission chairman Matt McWhorter said.

4 STATES

Southern Natural supplies Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and South Carolina distributors. Instead of the original $18,000,000, it is now asking for $11,100,000. That represents a reduction of about 39 per cent from the original demands.

The increase has been fought bitterly by a committee of the Georgia Municipal Assn. made up of officials from cities owning their own distributing systems. The committee was joined by the Georgia PSC and similar bodies from other states involved.

Georgia is by far Southern Natural's biggest customer. It uses approximately 51 per cent of the company's supply. Atlanta Gas Light Co. alone uses 90 per cent of the Georgia share.

COMPANY PETITIONS

Atlanta Gas Light and other distributors already have petitions before the GPSC requesting that they be allowed to pass the increase along to their customers.

Although Southern Natural's request was being opposed, it would have gone into effect under bond on Saturday.

Representing the GPSC in Washington has been commissioner Walter McDonald.

McDonald has advised McWhorter that Georgia's share of the increase has been worked out but that details of passing along the increase to individual, business and industrial users have not yet been arranged.

Cravey Maps Defense of Rate Delay

Insurance Commissioner Zack Cravey said Friday that he now plans to defend his temporary suspension of fire and auto liability insurance rates.

Cravey had testified earlier this week that he had "not opposed" a suit brought by insurance companies which now has Cravey enjoined from suspending the increases.

WILL MAKE FIGHT

But he indicated Friday that he will make a fight of the hearing.

At the same time it was announced Fulton Superior Court Judge Ralph Pharr has granted the attorney general's office a 30-day extension to answer the injunction orders.

Earlier, the insurance department had not appeared overly anxious to oppose the injunction.

F. D. King, assistant attorney general assigned to Cravey's office, told the joint legislative committee headed by Rep. Frank Twitty that as of last Tuesday he had not filed any reply to the insurance companies' petitions.

Cravey told the lawmakers that he had not opposed the filing of the injunction but denied that there had been any collusion.

SUSPENSION ORDERED

Cravey had ordered the suspension after the increases had been made public and had drawn public fire.

The insurance companies promptly obtained a temporary injunction to block the suspension. Judge Durwood Pye is expected to hear arguments whether the injunction should be made permanent.

Cravey had said he was suspending the increase until he held a public hearing. He said Tuesday that he considers the hearing he conducted two weeks ago to have been that public hearing.

U.S. Population Is 172,011,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Census Bureau Friday estimated the population of the United States as of Feb. 1 at about 172,011,000. This represents an increase of 21,878,000 or 14.5 per cent since the last census in the spring of 1950.

It's a Boy for Princess Grace! All Monaco Hails Its New Prince

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP)—Princess Grace gave birth to a healthy, bawling son Friday.

The mother and Crown Prince Albert were doing fine.

The proud father, Prince Ranier III, was on the phone calling friends when he was not peeping into the nursery or accepting congratulations from a stream of visitors.

Princess Grace

First-born Princess Caroline appeared a trifle upset by all the fuss.

She doesn't know it, but the year-old princess lost her direct right to the 800-year-old throne under Monaco's line of succession when Albert was born.

Birth of 8¾-pound Albert Alexander Louis Pierre set off a day of revelry. Toasts and celebrations extended into the Mediterranean night.

Bonfires blazed. There was dancing in the palace square, and Monaco's church bells pealed continually.

The prince went on the Monaco radio to broadcast the news of the child.

Merchants of Monaco broke out bunting and flags almost before the last shot of the 101-gun salute heralding the birth.

Unemployment Claims At a Record 3.7 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—New claims for unemployment benefits rose to 440,400 in the week ended March 8 as the over-all number of idle workers drawing such payments hit a record high of 3,722,800, the government reported Friday.

The Labor Department, however, called the rise "relatively small" in relation to the steady jumps in recent weeks. Officials said it was the best showing since the week of Jan. 18 when the jobless benefit figures actually declined.

BELOW PEAK

Although the number of new claims was nearly 20,000 below the peak reached in the week of Feb. 22, the fact that they rose at all suggested that overall unemployment might rise this month instead of showing the usual seasonal drop.

The AFL - CIO told President Eisenhower earlier today that unemployment this month would at least equal the 16-year peak of 5,173,000 reached in February. The labor federation said there was "no hope" for business upturn in March.

The AFL - CIO made public a memorandum delivered to the President yesterday in which it said that such key economic indicators as auto and steel production and claims for unemployment benefits show the recession has gotten worse.

4,500 IN WEEK

A few hours later, the Labor Department reported that new claims for jobless benefits increased by 4,500 in the week ended March 8, and that 3,282,400 persons were drawing such payments on March 1, an increase of 14,400 over the previous week.

The biggest increases in new claims were reported by New York, Michigan, New Jersey, Wisconsin and Minnesota. Except for New York, the statistics primarily reflected layoffs by auto and auto supplier plants.

It added that 25 regional offices reported declines in the number of persons drawing unemployment benefits while 24 reported increases. The biggest increases were 19,800 in Michigan and 12,400 in Pennsylvania.

TOKYO DRAMA

U.S. Agent Is Killed in Spy Mystery

TOKYO (Saturday) (AP) — The body of a civie-clad American soldier, found floating in Tokyo Bay Wednesday, was postively identified Saturday as that of a missing Army intelligence agent.

He was identified as M. Sgt. Emmett E. Dugan, 39, Crafton, Pa., near Pittsburgh, a veteran investigator in the army's cloak-and-dagger service, who disappeared last Feb. 4.

A preliminary autopsy established Dugan definitely was not a drowning victim and the Army said pathological tests were being made to determine if he had been poisoned.

The sinister aspects of the case were heightened by two reports.

One was a Japanese police report that Dugan had been seen before his disappearance with an unidentified Caucasian and several Chinese suspected by police of "espionage work for Communist China or drug trafficking."

The other was an Army report that Dugan turned his life insurance policy over to his wife shortly before he vanished, telling her: "If I don't return, you'll need these."

Japanese newspapers said Dugan was investigating Communist activities when he met his death, but the Army declined to confirm this. The military would say only that the victim's normal duties were investigative and that it was not definitely known he was engaged on a case when he disappeared.

U.S. Reports Decline in Production

By GARDNER L. BRIDGE

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower asked Congress for $171,450,000 in public works speedup appropriations Friday as government sources disclosed that a further drop in industrial production will be announced Monday.

The new decline to be reported in the Federal Reserve Board's index of industrial production for February suggests that unemployment may fail to drop this month as predicted by Eisenhower.

A drop of $1,800,000,000 in the annual rate of personal incomes last month was reported by the Commerce Department. The drop-off from January, largely in wages and salaries, carried the income rate down to $341,800,000,000, on an annual basis, as compared with a peak rate of 347½ billion dollars reached last August.

Last month's figure, while down 1½ per cent from the August rate, was still one per cent above the income level of February 1957.

Eisenhower reviewed the economic situation at an unusually long Cabinet session. It was the regular Friday morning meeting but it continued for 2½ hours. White House press secretary James C. Hagerty reported that various aspects of the economic situation were covered, among other things.

In an overtime session Friday night, the Senate passed a resolution to put Congress on record as favoring acceleration of $1,715,000,000 of job-producing military construction projects.

One of a series of antirecession moves, it drew bipartisan support in its 76-1 roll-call passage that sent it to the House for action.

The action followed testimony earlier in the week by Dep. Secretary of Defense Quarles that the Pentagon is ready to push about

More Funds For Georgia Dams Asked

WASHINGTON (AP)—An additional $7,200,000 for river projects in Georgia and adjoining states was included Friday in President Eisenhower's request for more money to speed up river and harbor programs.

The President asked Congress for an emergency appropriation of 225¼ million dollars.

The money was requested for the year starting July 1. It is intended to help fight the recession, White House press secretary James Hagerty said.

Included in the over-all figure was $11,700,000 for the Fort Gaines Lock and Dam in Georgia and Alabama, an increase of $1,700,000 over the original budget, and $15,500,000 for the Hartwell reservoir, an increase of $5,500,000.

The $90,000,000 Fort Gaines facility on the Chattahoochee River is now well under construction. The Hartwell reservoir is part of the $94,300,000 Hartwell Dam on the Savannah River.

Oppenheimer's Firing a Tragedy To U.S. Science, Von Braun Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Wernher von Braun agreed Friday it was tragic that the United States was not using the services of Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, the atomic physicist whose security clearance was withdrawn four years ago.

Von Braun, the "father of the Explorer satellite," spoke up in behalf of Oppenheimer, the "father of the A-bomb," in response to a congressman's question at a House hearing. He was called to give his ideas on education problems.

The German-born rocket expert, who commented that "people must have the courage to be eggheads," said the circumstances under which Oppenheimer was dismissed as a government consultant had hurt the scientific community as a whole.

Later, he said the United States must emphasize quality rather than quantity in its educational programs if it wants to "surpass" Russia. "Let's face it," he said. "We are outnumbered by the Communist world."

His comments on Oppenheimer came during an exchange with Rep. Fran Thompson Jr. (D-N.Y.)

"Don't you think it is somewhat tragic that because of political considerations, the country has been deprived of the services of Dr. Oppenheimer?" Thompson asked.

"Very much so, very much so," Von Braun replied. "Particularly the circumstances under which he was dismissed hurt the whole scientific community very badly."

He added that he was not in a position to comment on "security aspects," but: "I think the British would have knighted him."

Oppenheimer, who headed the World War II atomic bomb project, was found loyal but labelled a security risk by a special panel of the Atomic Energy Commission in 1954. President Eisenhower indicated at a recent news conference that the case was closed as far as he was concerned.

Oppenheimer now is director of the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton, N.J.

How Deep To Dig? FCC Probers Split

Rebuffed TV Applicant Stirs Debate Among Investigators

WASHINGTON (AP)—House investigators split sharply Thursday on whether their probe of the Federal Communications Commission has done more than scratch the surface of alleged influence on federal agencies.

In a new flareup of long-simmering discord in the House subcommittee on Legislative Oversight, Rep. Bennett (R-Mich) said he doubted if the inquiry has gone skin deep into the question—a statement which led Chairman Harris (D-Ark) to invite Bennett to dig as deep as he pleased.

Other members then got into the argument, which stemmed from testimony by Miami radio operator A. Frank Katzentine that he conducted himself "in an honorable, ethical manner" in a fight for a Miami TV license.

Katzentine lost out last year to a National Airlines subsidiary but the FCC has asked court permission to re-examine the case in view of the resignation under fire of Commissioner Richard A. Mack and other developments arising from the House probe.

The testimony Thursday involved Thurman A. Whiteside, whose financial relationship with Mack is under federal grand jury investigation.

PULLED OUT

Whiteside once pushed National Airlines' application for Miami's TV Channel 10 but has testified he pulled out of the case because of actions "tantamount to blackmail" against him by Katzentine.

Katzentine denied there was any blackmail but acknowledged Whiteside withdrew from the case at his instigation. And he said Whiteside received "not one thing" for doing so.

Bennett said it was inconceivable to him that no consideration was involved, and persisted in questioning the witness until Harris suggested he was only going over well-trod ground.

"I don't think the committee has scratched the surface," Bennett protested.

"The gentleman is recognized to start digging deep," Harris snapped back, adding at another point: "I think we have dug pretty deep."

Bennett contended Katzentine's behavior was "very improper" in enlisting the services of Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) and various other prominent men in and out of Congress to approach FCC members on his behalf.

But Rep. John Bell Williams (D-Miss) argued Katzentine had a perfect right to seek legislators' help when he thought—as Katzentine has charged repeatedly—the decision was being swung through political influence to National Airlines.

WHERE ELSE?

"When a citizen believes his case is not being decided on its merits, is there anybody else he can go to except senators and congressmen?" Williams asked.

Rep. Wolverton (R-NJ) took an opposing view. He said he hopes FCC in its reconsideration of the case will take a look at Katzentine's activities as well as National's, and added: "I'm inclined to think that when they look into the whole record they may find that the pot is calling the kettle black."

Indonesian Rebels Rip Paratroops

Counterattack In Oil Center

SINGAPORE (AP)—Rebel forces counterattacked at Pakanbaru Friday and inflicted "heavy casualties" on the central government paratroopers who seized the central Sumatran oil town Wednesday, the rebel radio reported.

Revolutionary commander Lt. Col. Achmad Hussein, broadcasting over Bukittinggi Radio, said a number of the government paratroopers had been captured.

In Jakarta, central government Premier Djuanda said investigation showed the arms dropped to the rebels around Pakanbaru Wednesday were "American-made." He declined to speculate on who may have dropped them.

An Indonesian newspaper said an airplane with Royal Australian Air Force markings delivered the arms. An Australian Embassy spokesman in Jakarta emphatically denied it.

Antara News Agency said central government Foreign Ministry sources accused the Dutch of aiding the rebels in central Sumatra.

Hussein claimed in his broadcast that Tapanuli, a province in north Sumatra which had been neutral, had joined the rebels. He said the Jakarta - appointed military commander had fled and three battalions of troops had deserted the central government.

The Indonesian Parliament in Jakarta dissolved the special committee set up four months ago to try to solve the differences between President Sukarno and his anti-Communist former vice president, Mohammed Hatta.

Cuba Turns Quiet as Guns Rule

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Tight gun rule was enforced throughout this island Friday night. An unprecedented wave of violence subsided, at least for the moment.

Only one bomb explosion was reported near Havana—contrasted to the usual daily menu of burnings, train holdups, wrecking communications, kidnapings and killings.

President Fulgencio Batista kept the 7,700-strong national police, and the army, navy and air forces in a state of alert.

Police, troops and coastguardsmen patrolled streets in rebellious Santiago de Cuba, in Pinar del Rio, Matanzas, Cienfuegos, Havana and other rebel hot spots. Police and other armed forces, clothed with extraordinary powers, broke up groups of Cubans wherever they attempted to congregate.

Authorities rigidly enforced censorship of the press, radio and television and international telephonic communications. Censors clipped out all Cuban items from American newspapers before they were allowed on newsstands. They required operators in telephone exchanges to seven connections when anyone tried to relay to the United States news of the situation in Cuba.

2 A-Bombs Are Set Off By Russians

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Russians have conducted two nuclear weapons tests in different locations Friday, the Atomic Energy Commission reported Friday night.

One of the tests took place north of the Arctic Circle, the AEC said, and the other was at "the usual Siberian testing site."

Neither test was in the megaton range. A megaton weapon is one having the quivalent of a million tons of TNT.

Japanese seismologists and weather experts in Tokyo reported March 8 that the Soviets had set off two nuclear blasts on or near Novaya Zemlya Island above the Arctic Circle.

Benson Pays 354 To Quit Farming in Experiment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson said Friday the department had accepted bids of 354 Maine farmers to take their entire farms out of production for 5 to 10 years under a special soil bank trial program.

The aim is to see whether the plan might have any value in curbing surpluses of basic crops covered by government price support guarantees.

The department earlier had turned down the bids of some 52,000 farmers in Nebraska, Illinois and Tennessee to enlist in the trial program. The department said these farmers wanted too much money.

Benson said the Maine bids involved 20,273 acres of cropland. The farmers will receive an average of $11.57 an acre annually for the period of their contracts. Benson said the farms were evaluated on a productivity basis.

In comparison, Maine farmers now receive an average of $9 an acre for putting their land in trees, grass and other soil conservation projects under the regular conservation reserve soil bank program.

Hands Off East Europe, Khrushchev Tells West

MOSCOW (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev told the West Friday night any attempt to change the status of Eastern Communist nations by force would bring Soviet intervention.

In an election speech, the Communist party head denounced as "insulting" the proposal of President Eisenhower that a summit conference should include the question of East European states.

Khrushchev said the Soviet Union not only rejected the proposal but he declared: "In the event of any new attempt from aboard to change the status of the Socialist — Communist — nations by force, we will not remain ordinary onlookers and we will not leave our friends in the lurch.

"We are true to our responsibilities and to our international duties, and we would not like anyone to test our patience anew," he added.

An audience of 14,000 in Moscow's Sports Palace roared its approval as Khrushchev asserted the Soviet Union has intercontinental ballistic missiles and everything else needed "to crash any aggressor who tries to attack our country."

Speaking of the status of the East European states, he said the Soviet Union could just as well suggest that it is time for capitalist systems in Western Europe to make way for socialism.

"But we are realistis," he added, "and we realize we cannot put forward such proposals if we hope to end the cold war and achieve peaceful coexistence."

The Soviet Union will elect a one-party Parliament Sunday.

Hurled Son, Daughter In River, Father Says

WHEELING, W.Va. (AP)—Residents along both shores of the Ohio River were alerted Friday to watch the cold, gray waters for the bodies of two children. Their father, John W. Turner, 33, said he threw them off a bridge here. Police believe the story.

"We are certain that he did throw the children off the bridge," Detective Sgt. Ray Lucas said.

Police based their belief on statements by Turner and his grief stricken wife Betty, 29, a semi-invalid, and on other circumstances.

Officers found foot and hand prints in snow on the walk and railing of the Fort Henry Bridge, the span from which Turner said he dropped the couple's only children, Betty Marie, 7, and John Jr., 4, into the Ohio late Thursday night. Turner is a steel worker who has been laid off since last October. The couple lives at Beech Bottom, 10 miles up the river from here, near the Wheeling Steel Corp. plant where Turner worked.

Sobbing now and then and sometimes incoherent, Turner unfolded the stark tale first at the Brooke County sheriff's office in Wellsburg Thursday night, later retelling it here to Ohio County authorities and Wheeling police. He is held here in Ohio County jail, where he was booked for suspicion of murder.

Turner definitely stated to police that he threw the children from the bridge. At other times he was overwhelmed by doubt and confusion.

"I can't believe it. I can't be sure. I'm not sure I did it," he said.

Ike Asks $171,450,000 To Speed Public Works

$1,750,000,000 worth of military construction, including military housing and armories.

The President's request for emergency speed-up appropriations included 125¼ million dollars for river and harbor and flood control projects of the Army Engineers, and $46,200,000 for hospital construction.

Hagerty declined to say whether there had been any discussion of a possible tax cut, a move that has been receiving wide attention on Capitol Hill as an economy booster.

The Senate balked again Friday at immediate income and excise tax cuts.

Senators rejected the reductions in two separate packages on the way to passing and sending to the White House a bill to save life insurance companies 124 million dollars on 1957 taxes.

The bill was passed Friday night, 61-19, with most of the debate centered not on it but on general tax reductions and the idea of increasing payments for people out of work.

Members shouted down a $2,200,000,000 slash in federal sales taxes—applying to items varying from fountain pens and whisky to cars and trucks.

And by a 64-19 vote, it rebuffed an attempt by Sen. Yarborough (D-Tex) to hike the individual income tax exemption from $600 to $800 for the rest of this year. Yarborough figured this would have provided $3,750,000,000 in tax relief.

The tax formula for insurance companies in the bill passed is the same that applied to them in 1955 and 1956. Corporate taxes are due Saturday.

Under the formula, life insurance companies are taxed at the regular 52 per cent corporation rate on 12½ per cent of the first million of net investment income, and 15 per cent of such income above a million.

On the other hand the Senate Public Works Committee unanimously approved a highway construction speed-up bill which sponsors said could mean at least 88,000 more jobs this year.

The measure would make an additional 1½ billion dollars available for highway work this year. Under an agreement to hold it open for minority reports on billboard control, however, the bill cannot be taken up on the Senate floor until the week of March 24.

In the House, the 13 Republican members of the Banking Committee announced they had voted unanimously to request "prompt action" on a $1,850,000,000 emergency housing bill already passed by the Senate.

WOMEN WEEP

Sad, Sonless Shah Sheds His Soraya

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—The shah of Iran sorrowfully dissolved his seven-year marriage to beautiful Queen Soraya Friday because she had not borne him a son and heir. She accepted the decree from 2,000 miles away "with deepest regret."

A simple, formal statement by Shah Reza Pahlevi, issued while his green-eyed half - German Queen was in Cologne, was all that it took under Moslem law to sever their ties.

Europe had called it the "royal love match of the decade." Women wept in the streets of Tehran and Cologne.

The Palace communique said elder statesmen and government heads persuaded the 39-year-old Shah to give up his 25-year-old Queen because their marriage was childless. More specifically, they did not have a son. The Iranian throne demands a male.

5 Airmen 'Orbit' Earth In a Mock Space Ship

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Five Air Force volunteers who are "orbiting" the earth in a space flight test have settled into a quiet but busy routine that will last until Monday.

One major and four captains are aboard the pretended missile which "blasted off" Wednesday. In reality, the craft is fixed solidly to the floor of a hangar at nearby Wright - Patterson Air Force Base.

Each volunteer is a pilot who has logged at least 3,000 air hours. During most of the endless hours of the "flight," each man is busy at his assigned duty.

Two of the men are on duty 16 hours a day; the other three work 12 hours and are off duty for 12. Off-duty time is spent mostly in sleep in the cabin which, over-all, measures only 17 feet long, 7 feet wide and 6 feet high.

The changed conditions which require the crewmen to adjust the controls are "fed" into the instrument system from the outside.

Every movement of the crew is recorded on film and two television screens show the test monitors what is going on inside the cabin.

Every man wears an electric harness around his waist and on the soles of his feet to help record reactions of the heart and skin.

It took engineers and scientists 2½ years to design and build all the recording equipment.

And, as of now, both men and machines are functioning perfectly as the mockup craft makes its dizzying orbit at a theoretical altitude of 17,650 miles, and a speed of 7,550 m.p.h.

Army Firing Explorer III In Weeks

CHICAGO (AP)—Secretary of the Army Brucker said today the Army will make a third attempt to launch an earth satellite from Cape Canaveral, Fla., "in a few weeks."

"Explorer No. 3" will be more "sophisticated" than the U. S. missile now circling the earth and the later missile which failed to go into orbit, Brucker said.

He told a news conference the number of satellites the Army expects to launch in the future depends on Army research team work. However, future satellites will "be pretty much the same as the one up there now," Brucker said.

The third satellite will be launched into the heavens by the Army's Jupiter C missile, in the same manner as Explorers I and II, Brucker said.

Asked whether the Army is developing an intermediate range ballistics missile, Brucker said: "We are not only doing so, we have one."

"We don't have the right to shoot it, though," he added, "because that's given to the Air Force."

Psychology Counts In Economy, Too

If enough people repeatedly tell a fairly healthy person he looks sick, pretty soon he is apt to become convinced he is quite ill and will govern himself accordingly.

To a certain extent the same can apply to the economy.

That does not mean the current recession is a figment of the imagination. On the contrary, it is quite real. Unemployment has shot upward and industry has become quite jittery in its thinking, especially in regard to expansion plans.

This nation can and will snap out of the present doldrums. Whether or not it will do so with reasonable speed or will bog in deeper before the inevitable bouncing back depends on several factors.

The government is preparing to prime the pump through various methods, possibly including tax relief as one way to stimulate consumer buying. It is doubtful that slicing a dollar or two off the taxes of the average employe will have too much of an impact upon spending. But suspension of withholding taxes for a month or possibly longer could, although there is a likelihood such procedure would provide more of a temporary shot in the arm than anything like a permanent cure. But it is worth serious consideration.

The government, of course, must be extremely cautious not to overdo its medication and thereby set off another inflationary spiral.

Meanwhile, there are other encouraging signs in the air. Warm weather will help sales. Although department store volume this year is 2 per cent down from last year, sales last week were 7 per cent above the corresponding week of 1957.

Also on the bright side is the strength of the stock market and the increase in applications for government-insured loans on new housing.

But don't discount psychology. Prophets of gloom can make the patient much worse than he actually is. Some of the results they have achieved is reflected in findings of a survey which showed that consumers express declining confidence in business and plan to reduce their own outlays. But in the same survey very few consumers expected their own incomes to diminish. Then why do they plan to cut their expenditures? The answer to a great extent can be found in the fact they have been listening to the crepe hangers.

Perhaps we can't talk our way out of the recession. But we can talk our way in deeper.

If it takes a little pump-priming to chase away the recession let's have it—and let's have it administered judiciously. At the same time, let's banish fear and place more confidence in the tremendous potential of this nation which still is the most prosperous in the world. Let's not sell it short.

State's Scholastic Press Scores Well Nationally

The Georgia climate, literally and literarily, promotes journalism.

Newspapers of the state, both daily and weekly, consistently rank high when entered in national competition.

The Henry Grady School of Journalism of the University of Georgia is outstanding as a training ground in the many facets of the profession.

Interest, ability and outstanding achievement in the field carries, too, into the scholastic level.

Witness the 12 awards won by Georgia schools in the annual Columbia Scholastic Press Assn. contest for improvement in student writing and publication. The results of the competition were announced this week.

We congratulate our fellow journalists in the high schools, the junior highs and the colleges. They are carrying along well in a manner already well-established by the scholastic press of the state.

Areawide Enforcement Is Blow to Criminals

Huge stills have been raided, large quantities of moonshine destroyed, a number of liquor cars impounded and arrests made.

The upsurge in enforcement is attributable to a group of federal, state and local officers working as a team. Key to its success, as it has been with the areawide lottery squad, is the ability to cross city and county lines. A trail picked up in Atlanta when a lottery or liquor runner is captured can be followed to its source, or headquarters, some distance away.

Criminal activities usually are intensified in times of economic recessions.

Achievements of the Atlanta area squads indicate the kind of results that other sections of the state could obtain by establishing similar units. Now is a most appropriate time to do so.

Politics Must Reflect Shifting Populations

Mayor Hartsfield's denial that he is backing a move to put independent candidates into this year's general election recognizes the practical facts of Georgia politics.

Such a move would have little effect at this time except possibly to entrench the system even more. Eventually urban areas may be forced to adopt such a course but the time has not come and could be circumvented perhaps by certain concessions in the matter of representation and more equitable distribution of tax funds.

Tests of the system in the courts are to be expected and certainly this procedure will have more backing than a frontal assault. Tests are nothing new. The U.S. Supreme Court has refused in the past to accept jurisdiction over cases involving state primary election laws. But circumstances change.

Attention again has been focused, however, on the fundamental weakness of a system which takes no account of shifts in population and changing needs. If the unit system is to be preserved as the politicians seem so intent upon doing, modifications to take this factor into account are bound to have to be made.

The Men in SAC Risk Death in Daily Duty

That the Air Force should drop part of a nuclear bomb at Florence, S.C., was as alarming as it was accidental and unfortunate. The good fortune was that no one was killed.

No such luck was involved later in the week in the crash of a B47 Air Force bomber on the edge of the Florida Everglades.

There were no survivors.

Four men died. Wives, children and parents are bereaved.

Like the crew over South Carolina, these men were of the Strategic Air Command. As with the crew which lost the bomb part, these four men, too, were on a defense mission.

They died in the service of their country just as surely as if they had been at war.

In an era when a ballistic missile can find its target half way around the world within 20 minutes after the firing button is pushed, there is no time for mobilization.

SAC is the front line of defense. A SAC plane overhead is protecting the home in which you live just as is the police car which patrols your street at night.

Let SAC maintain its mission. Let its crew do the best they can to keep friendly property and personnel out of the line of fire.

Let the American public on its part appreciate these men whose daily duty is danger. Let them prove that appreciation with promotion and pay.

Dignified Old Warhorses Rest in Uneasy Peace

The New Jersey, Iowa, Missouri, South Dakota, Indiana, Massachusetts, Alabama, North Carolina, Washington, West Virginia, Colorado, Tennessee, California . . . and now the Wisconsin.

The funeral procession of stately battleships has reached the end of the line. A week ago the Wisconsin dropped anchor for the last time and joined her sister ships in mothballs.

These lumbering hulks of iron and steel once were mistresses of the seas but the swift cataclysmic race in weapons technology has left them as useless as the dodo in military warfare.

Billy Mitchell as far back as 1925 foresaw the forces that would seal their doom. Supersonic aircraft and lightning-fast missiles have made the old battlewagons as vulnerable as sitting ducks.

It won't be long now before slender Russian ICBM's with their hydrogen-bomb payloads are within minutes of our most densely populated cities.

Those who still cling to the isolationist concept of Fortress America had better streamline their thinking to bring it more in line with reality. Fortresses, like battleships, are obsolete.

'Himalayan Snowman's Entitled to Hearing Before Being Condemned as Abominable'

Atlanta—I second A. I. R.'s pronouncement that the Himalayan snowman has been wrongfully and prematurely condemned in an entirely un-American and unsportsman-like atmosphere.

In fact, I think it behooves the governor to appoint a nonpartisan commission to invite the snowman to our fair capital to answer the charge of being abominable in a fair hearing with benefit of counsel, with the right to cross-examine, with the right to present witnesses, etc.

If the charge is sustained it would be in the interest of the public weal that all persons who wear over a size 12 shoe be classified as automatically suspect and placed under official and rigorous surveillance. If the charge isn't sustained, then the opprobrious adjective should thenceforth be banished from all future designations of the snowman in public journals, an official letter of citation to that effect be given him and, as due recompense, he be officially and graciously invited to sojourn on a suitable branchhead where he shall be free to build himself a domicile out of appropriate boondocks—rather than that he should be forced to return to his broken igloo.

Teaching Is Called A Sublime Vocation

Decatur—One of the sublimest vocations in life is teaching. And a teacher is one of the greatest personalities destined to shape the future of our youth and thus shape the destiny of the nation.

A teacher should be well trained, well educated, a person of high character and devoted wholeheartedly to the sacred task.

On the other hand, such a teacher should be well paid and be free from any political red tape.

Moral Fiber Rated No. 1 in Importance

Marietta—Recent action by the Atlanta City Fathers concerning the sale of liquor on Sunday focused our attention upon pertinent facts.

Americans are either deceived or lethargic in regard to the power and threat of liquor to our way of life.

No nation or city is stronger than its moral fiber and our beloved Atlanta will find that progress is not measured by tangibles like liquor and girlie shows but by intangibles which make life worthwhile.

Americans Still Can Think For Themselves, Thank You!

Newspaper ads in Dallas urge Texans to combat "weak and negative thinking" with "positive thinking that generates confidence and good times." Auto dealers in Cleveland tell people they should buy cars "to keep Cleveland business healthy."

A New York City merchandiser asks retailers around the country if they have scolded "your local newspaper publisher about his scare headlines."

Similar instances abound. Meantime the federal government, through a variety of voices, exhorts the people to get their economic chins up, while busying itself with alleged recession cures.

In other words, the American people are being told they are practically unpatriotic unless they buy regardless of need or financial condition; think any but optimistic economic thoughts; and in the case of newspapers, print anything but good business news.

This curious attitude would hardly deserve comment if it were not so obviously widespread. The fact that it is general, however, makes it no less foolish.

If a newspaper deliberately underplayed recession news it would not be worth printing or reading; by definition its function is to print what happens, and what happens to the economy is important news. That the news should be considered "bad" is immaterial; a declaration of war is automatically more newsworthy than the previous existence of peace. By the same token, when a recession has gone on for some time, any signs of a business pickup become in turn big news.

Beyond that, who would be fooled if newspapers tried to play Pollyanna? The American people, the would-be cheerleaders to the contrary notwithstanding, are not exactly stupid; they can read between the lines and observe for themselves.

But perhaps the strangest strain in this whole attitude is the notion that people have a duty to buy in order to bring about a quick new burst of "prosperity."

It is unquestionably true that if people did go on a buying binge it would give a big fillip to business. That is not at all the same as saying it would be an economically healthy situation. A boom so produced might well be a flash in the pan and might well be inflationary.

It appears that the American people, having surfeited themselves with all manner of things, are taking an economic rest. And that might be a very healthy idea in the circumstances.

In any case, no question of "duty" is involved. People are under no obligation to keep the economy at any particular level or keep it feverishly bounding upward from year to year with never a respite. The freedom of the people to do what they please is the essence of a free economy and a free society.

And you may be sure that in their freedom the people will in due time turn the recession around.

The Year 1886 Set Standard

By this time the late February freeze is only a shivering memory and a plumber's bill. The pipes are not all that have thawed. The zero readings have been followed by a flow of recollections. I have cautiously refrained from mentioning the time it got so cold where I was a boy the flame froze on the wick.

Among the interesting, authentic accounts of former freezes in Georgia is one from Mrs. Jewell B. Reeves of Calhoun.

She says 1886 in Gordon was the year of "the blizzard, the biggest flood and the deepest snow." Jan. 4-5, 1886, the thermometer stood at 8 below, ice on Oothcaloga Mill Pond was 3 inches thick and on Friday, Jan. 8, the blizzard struck. By the following Monday it was 10 below in Calhoun and a heavy snow blocked business.

In April 1886, according to Mrs. Reeves' account, the Oostenaula River became a sea and backed Oothcaloga creek into Calhoun. In December, same year, Gordon County had 24 inches of snow. Says Mrs. R., "Editor Chapman of the Calhoun Times said the year 1886 would be a standard for future generations."

Calhoun has reason to remember, too, the events of 1888. On March 24, a cyclone leveled the Methodist church and damaged the Baptist church and the courthouse so badly they had to be torn down.

In October '88, the Gordon County seat caught fire. The blaze started in the newspaper office.

Mrs. R. says, "Rumor says Editor Chapman kept a greyhound —dog, not bus—in the office and the dog must have knocked over the stove some time in the night. So in my stories of Gordon County, 1887 remains blank, for all the papers were burned along with the greyhound."

"The more I read about the people who lived here in the 1880s, the more I admire and respect them. They were simply great!" Historian Jewell B. Reeves says in conclusion.

Thank you, Mrs. R., for your report on that winter of 1886.

J. A. Smith of Summerville remembers the earthquake, the snow, the cold and the flood of 1886 "when a steamboat went five blocks up Broad St. in Rome," the Charleston earthquake made "the dishes rattle and the bell on the old Seth Thomas clock ring" at the Smith home 11 miles east of Adairsville and the snow in November came to the top of the Smith pants. The wearer was six years old at the time.

Thank you, too, Mr. Smith of Summerville for your contribution to the history of the cold war in Georgia.

HIGHLINE: The best thing about bad weather is that it's nobody's fault. —Raymond Duncan in the Ellaville Sun.

Sen. John F. Kennedy

Increase Benefits To the Unemployed

WASHINGTON—Twenty-three years ago, in the wake of the great depression, the nation took a major step forward in the enactment of the Social Security system. An important element of the new program was the institution of the federal-state system of unemployment insurance under which jobless workers received weekly benefits while actively seeking employment.

Without question, unemployment insurance has served not only as a humanitarian social program—but also as one of our most important economic stabilizers. Sensitive to fluctuations in the economy, it automatically pours millions back into the economy to replace lost wages when a downturn occurs.

Editor's Note: This is another in the "Statesmen's Series" columns by distinguished personages in government, business, national affairs and the military who are writing guest columns for Thomas L. Stokes, who is seriously ill. This column is by John F. Kennedy, U.S. senator from Massachusetts.

During the late 1930's the system served both of these objectives well. Every state at that time paid maximum benefits equal to 50 per cent of the average weekly wages in that state and in most states an unemployed worker could receive up to 60 to 90 per cent of the average weekly wage in benefit payments.

However, over the years the states have lagged in keeping the program up with current wage and price levels. Congress has not acted at all. As a result the benefits paid to workers out of a job today are geared to price and wage levels prevalent in the 1930's.

In very few states do most unemployment insurance recipients receive as much as 50 per cent of their previous weekly wages. In some cases the percentage is as low as 30 per cent. In dollar terms, average unemployment benefits in the various states during November, 1957, ranged from a low of $20 a week to a high of about $35 — with most states paying an average of about $27.

It takes no expert in family budgeting to realize that present state unemployment benefits fail miserably in providing the wherewithal to maintain even a modest standard of living at today's prices.

Another startling inadequacy of the present system is that, with well over five million unemployed, only about 2,900,000 are drawing benefits. Too many workers are not even covered by the law. Too many others have been out of work so long they have exhausted their benefit rights. The benefit period is too brief in every state.

Each year since 1953 the President has urged the states to increase benefits so that most workers would receive 50 per cent of their weekly wage, to broaden the coverage of the system and to extend the duration of benefits.

The current economic decline points up the necessity of shoring up this important barrier against the rushing tide of unemployment. Seventeen other senators have joined me in sponsoring legislation to strengthen the unemployment insurance system by establishing nationwide minimum standards.

Too long we have neglected this important instrument of economic policy. And failure to act now — before a self-perpetuating economic decline is well established — would be the height of folly. Aid to the unemployed, as Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt told the New York State Legislature nearly 30 years ago, "must be extended by government, not as a matter of charity, but as a matter of social duty."

Second Chance Is Available to You

In the eighth chapter of John we have the story of Jesus and the adulteress. A woman had been caught by religious officials breaking the Seventh Commandment—"Thou shalt not commit adultery." These officials brought her to Christ and asked, "What should we do with this woman?" For the law of Moses demanded stoning to death for breaking that commandment.

The Pharisees, however, were as eager to trap Jesus as this woman. For if He had said "Stone her," He'd have broken Roman law. If He'd said, "Release her," He'd have broken Jewish religious law.

Therefore Jesus didn't answer immediately. But when He did, this was His answer: "Let the one without sin cast the first stone." One by one the accusers dropped their stones to the dust, hung their heads and turned silently away.

The woman was left alone with Jesus. She and her sinfulness—face to face with Christ—and His purity. And which of us shall not some day stand with our sinfulness before Him with His purity?

"Woman," He then asked, "where are your accusers? Hath no man condemned thee?"

"No man, Lord."

"Neither do I condemn thee. Go and sin no more." Jesus could have condemned her. But He forgave her. And no doubt she left the scene with a song on her lips, for she was now a new person.

But why did our Lord give her a song instead of a stone? Did He approve of her sin? Not at all.

Was He blind to the wickedness of what she had done? She had betrayed her husband. Did Christ ignore these facts? No. For Christ is never blind to the awful consequences of sin in any form.

He forgave her because she'd already been condemned. The crowd condemned her and she shook with fright.

She didn't need fear. She needed faith. She didn't need condemnation. She needed consolation.

Moreover, Christ forgave her because He knew she could be the right kind of person if she tried. Notice His parting command, "Go and sin no more." In other words, "I believe in you. I believe you can live the good life if you make up your mind to do it." He gave her a second chance because He believed in her.

Christ still believes in us—despite the depths to which we've sunk — and He will give us a second chance.

Jenner Bill Seeks High Court Curb

WASHINGTON—You don't have to think that the Supreme Court is always right to view with the gravest anxiety the bill now before the Senate Judiciary Committee by which Congress would wrest from the court five areas of judicial review. It is not putting it too bluntly to say that this is the other side of the same counterfeit currency which President Roosevelt tried to put into circulation in 1937.

This is simply another form of the court-packing plan which Roosevelt advanced to his sorrow and which both parties in the Senate joined overwhelmingly to defeat—they thought permanently.

Congress refused to give to the President the means to re-make the court on the ground he didn't like its decisions.

Now Sen. William E. Jenner, who some months ago had a majority of the Judiciary Committee on his side, is pressing a measure designed to undercut the jurisdiction of the court on matters in which its recent decisions have been displeasing to him and some others.

The method is different. The objective is the same.

President Roosevelt tried to subordinate the Supreme Court by asking for power to name additional justices.

Sen. Jenner is asking Congress to subordinate the Supreme Court by attempting to deny it the right to review cases which he and others do not want reviewed.

What does the Jenner bill set out to do? Well, there are members of Congress who didn't like the Supreme Court decision that a citizen appearing before a congressional committee could not be compelled to answer a question unless it was pertinent to the investigation.

And other decisions have been controversial.

To prevent this the Jenner bill seeks to put the Supreme Court out of business in the five areas of controversial decision-making. It would forbid the court to review cases affecting (1) the practices of any congressional committee; (2) any security action by the Executive carrying out an act of Congress; (3) any state law dealing with subversion; (4) any school board action on subversion; (5) any state regulation concerning admission to the bar.

We undermine an independent Judiciary if Congress is to take jurisdiction from the court when it disapproves its opinions.

We invite judicial chaos if, with Supreme Court review denied, we are to have different state courts and different appellate courts interpreting the Constitution.

Appling Asked State To Halt Dunn's Work

their representative. W. C. Parker.

The commissioners returned to Baxley, but later, accompanied by Parker, they went back to see Chalker. This time Chalker told them to "clear it" through the governor's office and pointed out that "the Dunn boys" were very close to the Griffin administration.

The commissioners then went to see Gov. Griffin and told him:

1. The first seven-mile stretch of Zora road was advertised for public letting, but this didn't please J. R. Dunn and the project was changed to a county contract.

WORK UNSATISFACTORY

2. Dunn's work had been unsatisfactory and they wanted a public bid contract to which they were entitled.

Gov. Griffin told them, "Well, you know my position with regards to the Dunns." But he went on to tell the commissioners that if they wanted a public bid contract, they would get one.

J. R. Dunn still insisted that he was entitled to do the work under a county contract because of his influence in getting state contracts for Appling County.

The commissioners told Dunn that they were determined for Zora road to be completed under public contract. But they agreed that if he would not "interfere" with their getting a public contract for this job, they would agree to accept a county contract on the next rural road project and let him do the work.

GOOD UNDERSTANDING

"He wanted us to tell Cheney Griffin about it and have a good understanding," according to the commissioners. "We went and talked to Cheney and told him about the understanding and he said, 'You boys are together now. Stay that way.' "

The commissioners had to go to Atlanta on another occasion to protest the high contract estimates for work J. R. Dunn was doing on another road under two county contracts.

The contracts called for a total expenditure of $32,509.96 for two miles of grading, base and grassing. The commissioners said J. R. Dunn told them the contracts were "a gift from the governor."

The commissioners said they went to Roy Chalker and told him that the estimates were much too high. They pointed out that about a mile of the road went through a cotton patch and a large part of it followed an old road bed.

$7,000 A MILE

The commissioners said Chalker told them he was going to investigate the estimates because that type work usually cost about $7,000 a mile.

Total payments under the two contracts amounted to $22,512.22. The commissioners said Chalker apparently made the engineers revise the estimates.

Cheney Griffin met with Appling commissioners in J. R. Dunn's house just prior to the election of 1956 in which Mayor Dunn was running for Rep. Parker's seat in the House.

The commissioners said Cheney let it be known that the county would fare better on state road contracts if Mayor Dunn were elected.

WHICH SIDE

"He let us know that if one side of town went for his man, that side would get streets paved." Commissioner Lightsey said, "but that if another side went for the other man, that side wouldn't do so well on street paving."

Mayor Dunn lost the election despite Cheney Griffin's aid.

J. R. Dunn's dealings with the state have not been confined to the construction of rural roads.

State Purchasing Department records show that the Dunn Lumber Co., operated by J. R. Dunn, has received $279,264.65 from the state for lumber since 1955. Payments by years total:

1955-1958

In 1955, $162,703.55; 1956, $44,851.02; 1957 $51,818.51 and 1958 through Feb. 26, $19,891.57.

William Marion Barron, a bookkeeper for Dunn Lumber Co., is on the State Revenue Department payroll as a $275-a-month "inspector."

The state auditor's records show Barron went on the payroll Aug. 15, 1955. And he is listed on the current budget for the revenue department.

Appling County Sheriff Norwood P. Moody said, "To the best of my knowledge, Barron has never been anything except a bookkeeper for J. R. Dunn."

NO OTHER WORK

Baxley City Councilman Tommy Barnes also said he knew of no work Barron had done except as Dunn's bookkeeper.

Most of the streets in Baxley graded and based by Mayor Dunn under state-city contracts have ben paved by the State Highway Department.

The State Highway Department also reportedly has surveyed for paving an old county road that goes by J. R. Dunn's fishing lake.

part of a committee that was illegally created," Griffin said.

Julian Bennett, assistant attorney general assigned to Griffin's office, said the attorney general could not furnish legal assistance to the committee. He said the attorney general was precluded from rendering such assistance under an act setting up the Law Department as advisor to the Executive branch of the government.

Griffin, meanwhile, reaffirmed his intention of making a thorough investigation of charges published in The Atlanta Constitution that the state has paid for road work in Baxley that has never been done and that Baxley Mayor J. M. (Buck) Dunn sublet $125,000 in road contracts to himself.

The governor said the charges were "pretty serious if true." He said if the state has paid for work not done "there's been a violation of the law."

But he said if the charges are proved untrue, the persons named in the charges will be "exonerated."

Liquor Man Is Freed of Tax Charge

A federal judge Friday dismissed a guilty verdict against convicted liquor operator Richard V. Jenkins of Avondale on income tax charges.

U.S. District Judge Boyd Sloan sustained motion filed by Jenkins' attorney, James M. Roberts, to set aside a guilty verdict returned by a jury Wednesday.

Judge Sloan earlier had dismissed the first count of a two count indictment charging Jenkins with making false income tax returns. But he allowed the second count, charging Jenkins with reporting his 1954 income as $156,167 when it actually was $326,174, to go to the jury.

In freeing Jenkins of the entire charge Friday, Judge Sloan pointed out that the government had contended that "since the taxpayer in determining 'gross profits' arrived at . . . (them) by the formula of deducting from total receipts of the cost of goods sold that the result . . . can, for the purposes of this indictment, be treated as gross income."

"With this the Court cannot agree," he added.

Bucs Are Heavy Load for Ailing Big Klu to Carry

Jesse OUTLAR

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION
Sports

Page 6, Saturday, March 15, 1958

(Jesse Outlar is on his annual tour of major league training camps. Tomorrow: The Chicago White Sox.)

FORT MYERS—If Danny Murtaugh had elected to enter the entertainment business, instead of managing the Pittsburgh Pirates, he probably would have a high Trendex rating.

The jovial Irishman, blessed with a razor-sharp sense of humor, is a quick man with a quip. When it comes to double-talk humor, he's right in the league with Sid Caesar and Al Kelly, which should prove an asset in his current occupation.

Outlar

In a baseball uniform, however, Murtaugh is a serious man, and he faces a grim challenge in Pittsburgh. The pennant seeds that Branch Rickey planted in St. Louis and Brooklyn failed to grow in Forbes Field.

The Bucs are as much at home in the N. L. cellar as Ike is on the golf course. In the last eight years, they have finished last five times. They shared the basement with the Cubs in '57. All ex-Pelican Murtaugh has to do to become the most successful Pirate manager since 1949 is lift the club into sixth place. Pittsburgh hasn't housed a pennant since Donnie Bush brought the Bucs home first in 1927.

Murtaugh got off on the right foot last year after general manager Joe Brown dismissed Bobby Bragan. After he assumed the reins on Aug. 3, Pittsburgh surprised by playing slightly above a .500 clip for the remainder of the way.

Can the Bucs maintain that pace for a full season?

"I'd say yes," Murtaugh said, "if I knew how many games Ted Kluszewski will play. He could give this club a terrific lift, and we're optimistic right now.

"Klu hasn't played in an exhibition game yet," Murtaugh continued, relaxing in the clubhouse after an exhibition tussle. "We're letting him get into shape on his own. He'll say when he's ready to play. Of course, he'll have to play down here, for I have to have an answer.

"He says his back feels all right, and he's able to bend down and move around in pepper games. He's also swinging that bat pretty good."

WHEN BATTING INSTRUCTOR GEORGE SISLER SPEAKS, PITTSBURGHERS GATHER AND LISTEN

Hall-of-Famer Holds Class With Pirates (L-R) Dick Groat, Bob Skinner, Bill Virdon and Hank Foiles

—Big Stu Is Also a First-Base Candidate

Until he got the miseries in his back, Big Klu was a one-man wrecking crew for the Redlegs. He is, of course, a key man in Murtaugh's plans, for the anemic Pirates are in dire need of power. They were the only N. L. team which didn't swat 100 home runs in '57.

Other than Kluszewski, the most-discussed man in the Pirate camp is Dick Stuart, who is now a first baseman.

"Stuart is a changed man," Murtaugh said. "Really, I mean it. He has improved his fielding, and he looks like a hitter now. We had George Sisler work with him at the end of last season, and it improved Stuart's hitting. He's always had power."

Stuart, of course, is the self-acclaimed successor to all the great home run hitters. And he may some day live up to his own billing. He whaled 45 round-trippers last summer while touring Hollywood, Atlanta and Lincoln. Stuart's major weakness in Atlanta was his inability to hide from the hitters afield. But you have Murtaugh's word for it. Stuart is making progress as a fielder.

"I would say that Stuart's immediate future is closely related to Big Klu," Murtaugh said. "If Klu can't play first, then Stuart will get a solid shot."

Right now, however, it should be noted that Stuart is performing for the Pirate Bee team.

If neither Big Klu nor Stuart can play first, then handyman Frank Thomas will inherit the job.

"Thomas will be in the lineup, either at first, third or in the outfield," Murtaugh explained, "but I really don't know where. We're fortunate that several fellows like Thomas, Gene Baker, Jim Pendleton and Gene Freese can play more than one position.

"Versatility is one of our major assets, and we'll probably do quite a bit of shifting during the season. I'm not kidding when I say that practically every job is up for grabs."

Absence of Bill Mazeroski, who'll be the regular second baseman when he returns from the service April 12, adds to the infield jumble. Johnny O'Brien may man the keystone slot until Mazeroski returns.

Dick Groat, only Buc infielder to rap over .300 last season, is the shortstop, and either Baker or Gene Freese will operate at third if Thomas isn't available.

By now you get an idea that everything hinges on Big Klu. Even the outfield, for Thomas may return to the outer garden. Bill Virdon, Bob Skinner and Roberto Clemente are the front-line fly chasers at present. However, Murtaugh says John Powers, the former Pelican who clobbered 29 homers at Columbus, Ohio, last year, Roman Mejias, Paul Smith and Emil Panko haven't been marked off the list.

Clemente has been having back and bat trouble. He hit only .253 in '57 and contributed a mere four home runs. Virdon dipped all the way to .251 after a terrific '56 campaign.

"We're hoping Clemente will get straightened out, and Virdon will make a strong comeback," Murtaugh said. "Powers hasn't played much because of a pulled muscle, but I know what he can do. I had him at New Orleans, you know, and he's got a lot of power."

—Murtaugh Will Operate a Shuffleboard

Murtaugh is also looking for additional starting pitchers.

"I'll put Bob Friend, Ronnie Kline and Vern Law against any three starters in the league," Danny said, "but we've got to have more depth. George Witt, who won 18 for Hollywood, Don Gross, Bob Smith, Eddie O'Brien and Laurin Pepper are in the running for starting berths. Gross has looked very good this spring.

Big Stu — Big Klu

"Roy Face will be my No. 1 relief man. He was in 59 games last season and he's one of the best. Art Swanson and Luis Arroyo probably will work in the bullpen, but I'm looking for a long reliefer, someone who can come in there and go five or six innings."

Catching is in the capable hands of Hank Foiles. He was in 109 games last season, and he'll probably be in more this outing. Danny Kravitz, Harding Peterson and Dick Rand are scuffling for the reserve slots. The Bucs will carry three catchers.

Pittsburgh may be the surprise team of the N. L. But I'm going to wait and be surprised. Right now, the Bucs are the choice for another seventh-place finish.

Hagge Takes Lead, And Berg's Injured

Patty Falls, May Withdraw From Titleholders Tourney

By BERT PRATHER
Constitution Sports Writer

AUGUSTA—The biggest and most talented field in the 19-year history of the Titleholders Golf Championship may have to go it the last two rounds at Augusta Country Club without the "Queen Mother of Golf."

Patricia Jane Berg, winner of the Titleholders a record of seven times in 14 starts, may be forced to withdraw because of an injury she sustained prior to teeing off in Friday's second round.

Patty's left knee, which was injured in an automobile accident a few years ago, gave way under her as she was walking near the pro shop.

In falling, Patty also twisted her ankle. Despite this painful mishap Patty was taped up by her doctor and gamely made the full 18 in 40-39—79. This added to her second place 73 of Thursday placed her in a tie for third place with first round leader Bev Hanson of Indio, Calif., at 152. Hanson has 72-80.

Front-running spot in the $5,000, 72-hole stroke play event was taken over by Marlene Hagge of Delray, Beach, Fla.

Marlene, who started playing golf at the ripe old age of three-and-a-half years, added a wind-blown 75 to her opening effort of 74 for a 36-hole count of 149.

Fay Crocker from Montevideo, Uruguay, jumped from a tie for third to second with 74-76—150.

Many times Southern Amateur champion and former Curtis Cupper Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Texas, was still leading the amateurs by five strokes with 75-83—158.

Patty, a gritty competitor, was in pain throughout the round and when she reported back at the Titleholders office following her round, the doctor examined the badly swollen knee and hustled her off for an X-ray.

The doctor didn't think Patty would make it Friday and he appears to have grave doubts that she'll be able to answer the bell in Saturday's third round.

Patty, an institution at this tournament, is particularly anxious to win her eighth crown this year since her Titleholders friends have dedicated this year's program to her.

Without her the tournament would lose a great deal of its color. The 40-year-old St. Andrews, Ill., lady has supplied the tournament with more thrills and excitement than any other player in golf.

She holds the tournament record at 291 made in 1955 and also the single round low of 68, also made in 1955. She has shown a particular fondness for this tough men's par 72 course and was which places her well on her way to missing out of the 15 money places in this $5,000 tournament.

Here's the way it happened: Mary Lena shot an 82 Thursday, which was considerably higher than she would normally shoot. Then Friday morning she discovered she had played the round with 15 clubs in her bag, one above legal limit under rules of United States Golf Association.

Mary Lena immediately reported this error to Titleholders rules committee and, of course, there was only one answer. She was taxed two strokes for each hole she toted the extra club, which was the full 18. So overnight her score jumped 36 strokes.

Mickey Wright of San Diego, Calif., had a similar experience in Tampa Women's Open in 1957 immediately after her Sea Island victory.

THESE CRACKER PITCHERS BELIE THE SIGN ON DUGOUT

No Infield Worries For Crackers' Bates

Brave Numbers Please Skipper

By CHARLIE ROBERTS
Constitution Sports Writer

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — There is Atlanta infield safety in Milwaukee numbers.

That's how Manager Buddy Bates feels about the outlook for his 1958 Crackers as the first week of spring training comes to a close here.

The skipper, whose charges will play first of 25 exhibition games Sunday against Wichita, starting at 2 p.m. at the newer of Jacksonville's two baseball parks, won a pennant with the Crackers a year ago.

And today he is far more satisfied with the personnel on hand than he was with what he had at the same stage in 1957. There are three big reasons: (1) a better nucleus of players who will actually go to the post with the club when the season opens; (2) better overall material among "secondary" players on the training squad, and (3) the safety in numbers of potentially fine players the Milwaukee parent club has to distribute among its farm clubs.

Bates put it this way after a lengthy four-hour practice session Friday, longest by far since the Crackers set up camp at the Myrtle Avenue Park last Sunday:

"Let's take second base for example," began the Southern Assn. manager of the year in 1957. "Milwaukee is well fixed with second basemen on its own roster. Wichita (Milwaukee affiliate in the Class AAA American Assn.) may get an infielder or two from Milwaukee even though the Wichita roster is already 'crawling' with second basemen.

"They simply can't possibly use them all, we are next in line, so to speak, and will have our pick of several mighty fine prospects.

"On the Wichita roster right now are Melvin Roach, who hit .311 at Jacksonville and played part of the year for Milwaukee; Chuck Cottier, the infielding sensation who trained with us and played for Topeka last season; Robert Jacobs, a good one up from Evansville, and Edwin Charles, up from Jacksonville.

"And, of course, we have some very good looking infield prospects on our training squad—Dudley Whitley, Jimmy Callaway and Maury Lerner. All have possibilities. That's just an example at one position."

Last year as the exhibition season began, the Crackers had only

Pitchers Hold Rugged Drill

Bob Montag listed at first base. Billy Reynolds was the only outfielder of experience with Clyde King's 1956 title-winning Crackers. There was no catcher who had experience in leagues of higher than B classification.

Joe Morgan, later to become the Southern's Rookie of the Year, and Dick Phillips, who played outfield the year before, were both up from Jacksonville and unknown quantities at shortstop and third base.

This year's squad of pitchers rates virtually the same in overall experience as the one at the same

Kentucky Routs Miami, Meets Notre Dame Next

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Three-time national champion Kentucky defeated scrappy Miami of Ohio, 94-70, Friday night after Notre Dame beat Indiana, 94-87, in the first round of the Mid-East NCAA regional basketball tournament played on Kentucky's home floor.

Kentucky and Notre Dame will play Saturday night for the right to advance to the NCAA Eastern finals next Friday.

Tony Anthony Stops Durelle

NEW YORK (AP)—Floored in the first round, hard-hitting Tony Anthony came raging back to stop game Yvon Durelle of Canada in 31 seconds of the seventh round of a fierce battle of light heavyweight contenders at Madison Square Garden Friday.

Referee Ruby Goldstein halted the terrific scrap after the lean, 23-year-old New Yorker had staggered the 28-year-old British Empire 175-pound champion with a searing volley of blows to the head.

ACE WAYNE MINSHEW SHOWS GRIP TO TEAMMATE BILLY HEARN

Comebacking Hearn Holds Key To Early Success of Bulldog Baseballers

INFIELD SOLID

Hearn 'Shoulders' Bulldog Success Hopes

By AL THOMY
Constitution Sports Writer

ATHENS—Pitch for pitch and complex for complex, baseball has more psychological ups and downs than any other sport, as the University of Georgia's Billy Hearn will testify.

And as such things usually start, Hearn's case can be traced to a physical cause, a shoulder separation in the Auburn game of 1956 when quarterback Hearn was trapped on the sidelines and injured in a pile-up.

He thought the shoulder healed during the early baseball days of last spring, but to his amazement dipped from his 7-1 '56 record to a dismal 1-2. Absence of pain deepened the mystery.

"Scouts and other baseball men told me that subconsciously I was favoring the right shoulder," said personable Hearn here Friday. "I thought I was using the same motion and getting my fast ball—which is my best pitch—in there the same way, but I had lost the hop to it. The more I pressed, the less I had on it."

"This is it, I know. If it comes back, I want to play pro ball: but I know it all depends on this season. I didn't touch a baseball all winter in order to be ready. Soon we'll know."

If Hearn recovers the form of '56, one of coach Jim Whatley's major problems will be resolved. Otherwise, the pitching burden will fall on the strong right shoulder of Wayne Minshew (5-1), one of the Southeastern Conference's leading throwers. Whatley looks to lefty Bob Payne and right-hander Bobby Cagle for second line punch, with southpaw Walter Glenn, Jerry Barge and Bobby Chaney also in the picture.

The outfield presents another big question mark. Currently Curtis Wiggins is in left, basketballer Ray Allen in center and footballer J. M. Davis in right. Tommy Lewis, another from the football ranks, is the No. 4 man.

Allen also is on the way back after a mediocre season at shortstop, dimming a spectacular .338 sophomore debut in 1956.

R. E. Gladdin and Smoky Stover scrap for the catching post, and probably will end up alternating behind the bat.

The infield brings a touch of certainty into all this uncertainty.

Shortstop Don Sparrow was one of the SEC's finest third basemen last season, and the only Bulldog to hit over .300 (.317). A pulled muscle has limited practice time, but Sparrow should be ready for the Florida excursion next week.

Sophomore Art Patchin could be, in Whatley's words, "the finest third baseman we've had here in many years." He roams well, has good hands and a rifle-like arm.

Basketball leader Henry Cabaniss, who didn't play regularly in '57, will start at first, and junior Joe DeFoor of Decatur has claimed second. Harry Saye, Matt Thompson and Paul Bryan are utility infielders.

"If Hearn is able to go he'll help us quite a bit," analyzes Whatley. "Otherwise, it may take six or seven games to stabilize the team."

Though personnel is somewhat unsettled at this juncture, there's no reason to expect anything but a successful campaign at Athens.

Whatley's Bulldogs have won 116 and lost 52 since he assumed control of baseball. During the past five years Georgia has compiled 10-5, 10-5, 11-4, 12-4 and 12-4 SEC reports, including conference championships in 1953-54.

Rollins and North Carolina provide opening tests next weekend.

"We'll know more after that," says Whatley.

K-State Benches Cincinnati

Wildcats Win 83-80 in Overtime

LOWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—Kansas State, an 83-80 overtime victor over Cincinnati in a thrilling battle of high-ranking teams, was joined in the final round of the NCAA Midwest basketball championships tonight by Oklahoma State as the Cowboys defeated Arkansas, 65-40.

Robertson, the nation's leading scorer, almost became the hero in the final seconds of the regulation time which ended 74-74. Instead he ended up as the goat by missing a second free throw which would have won the game for the second-ranked Bearcats.

Robertson, who tallied 30 points, fouled out with one minute gone in the overtime session, and with teammate Connie Dierking also on the sidelines the Missouri Valley champions had no answer for the well-balanced attack of the third-ranked Big Eight champions.

Dartmouth Faces Temple Tonight

CHARLOTTE, N.C., (AP)—Temple's streaking Owls had their wings singed by a scrappy Maryland team Friday but pulled out a 71-67 victory to join Dartmouth in the finals of the NCAA Eastern Regional Basketball Tournament.

Dartmouth, winner over Manhattan, 79-62, will play Temple Saturday night for the right to go on to the four-team national finals next week at Louisville, Ky.

Cal's Defensing Stops Idaho State

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP) — California, relying on its stout defense, defeated Idaho State College, 54-43, Friday in the opener of the NCAA Western Regional tourney. The game was witnessed by 16,034, the largest crowd ever to see a basketball game on the West Coast.

Yankees, Red Sox Pull an About Face

New York Beats Redlegs; Tigers End Boston Streak

By the Associated Press

In a sharp turnabout from their recent performances, the New York Yankees won a ball game and the Boston Red Sox finally lost one Friday.

The Yankees gained their second victory in seven exhibition starts by defeating the Cincinnati Redlegs 5-1. The Red Sox, after four straight successes, dropped an 11-8 verdict to the Detroit Tigers.

In other games on the full major league slate, Milwaukee downed the Philadelphia Phillies 8-1, St. Louis defeated Pittsburgh 8-5, Kansas City beat Washington 5-1, San Francisco whipped Cleveland 7-2 and Baltimore turned back the Chicago Cubs 7-6.

Chicago's White Sox stopped Los Angeles, 3-1, in a night game.

Don Larsen hurled five scoreless innings and Bob Grim three for New York before rookie Mark Freeman gave up the only Cincinnati run in the ninth. Regulars Hank Bauer, Gil McDougald and Bill Skowron made their first starting appearances of the spring for the Yanks and helped in a four-run third inning attack on lefty Harvey Haddix.

Reno Bertoia led Detroit's attack with a pair of singles, a triple and four runs batted in. The Red Sox, although handed 10 bases on balls, blew a four-run lead.

Good pitching by Warren Spahn and Bob Rush helped the Braves to their triumph. Each worked three scoreless frames. Carl Sawatski homered for Milwaukee while Harry Anderson accounted for the Phils' lone run with a circuit blow off Juan Pizarro.

Joe Cunningham was the big gun for the Cards. He drove in four runs with a 3-for-4 effort. St. Louis blasted Pittsburgh rookie George Witt for three runs each in the seventh and eighth innings.

Bill Tuttle shot the Athletics into a lead they never relinguished with a three-run homer in the first inning. Duke Maas and Harry Taylor gave Washington only five hits.

CRACKER DIARY

Ker-chew, Ker-chew Brings on Curfew

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—It's not that the Crackers have been bad boys, but starting Friday night they will be forced to observe a 10 p.m. curfew.

Trainer Jim Bernhardt, after checking with manager Buddy Bates, ordered all players to be in their rooms at night by 10.

Bernhardt is trying to keep the nose count higher than the hospital count. An epidemic of flu and bad colds has caused several players to miss practice time during the first week of training.

Absent from Friday drills because of colds were infielder Maury Lerner, pitcher Cecil Butler and catcher John Ray.

Back after missing the Thursday drills—but still weak—were pitchers Paul Cave, Robert E. Lee and Mike Dalton and catcher Bob Uecker.

CRACKER CRUMBS—Paul Cave, though ailing, put on a great pitching exhibition during a make-shift combination game-batting practice Friday. Jim Umbricht, Herbert Clay, Chuck Duren and Robert E. Lee all made batters look bad. At one juncture, a Lee pitch put Billy Reynolds in the dirt. Reynolds dusted himself off and slapped the next pitch over the right field fence, the only one clobbered all day. Said Lee, "Robert E. Lee refuses to surrender to a cold, but I guess that proves I've had it for today," and walked off the mound. . . . Bob Montag got in another brief workout before retiring.

Bernhardt and Reynolds, anticipating the arrival of still-absent Jack O'Donnell, prepared a special "locker" for the thin man they call "Razor." It is 4 inches wide. . . . Bates was impressed with Duren. "Man, that guy has good stuff," said the skipper, rubbing a sore hand after warming up the ex-Missouri semi-pro. . . . Nicknames are many here. Scout Julian Morgan, called "Soft Toes" by Reynolds, Tabs Reynolds "Blackie, The Weasel." . . . Bobby Harrelson, Tupelo, Miss. outfielder who came on his own for a tryout, was cut from the squad Friday. . . . Ralph Daugherty, set for his umpiring second year in the Southern Assn., was assigned to Cracker exhibition games by Pres. Charlie Hurth. Thomas Bartos, third-term man in the American Assn., will be the other ump in games involving the Crackers and Wichita. . . . Quip of the Day: Reynolds to Bates' aide Dennis, who has an ample waistline: "Didn't I see you floating over Miami with 'Goodyear' printed on you?"

25 DRIVERS IN FIELD FOR DALLAS FEATURE

Special to The Constitution

DALLAS—Auto racing returns to the Georgia sports scene here Sunday when a field of at least 25 drivers duel in a 100-lap late model race at the Speed Bowl.

Time trials begin at 1:30 p.m., with the feature race at 2:30.

Wilbur Rakestraw

Roscoe Thompson

Gober Sosebee

Georgia drivers entered in the Midwest Assn. for Race Cars (MARC) event include Atlantans Roscoe Thompson, T. C. Hunt, Gober Sosebee, Charley Mincey; Benny and Wilbur Rakestraw, Dallas brothers; Ed Williams, Red Oak; Chet Barron, Cornelia; Woody Coleman, Roswell; Gene White, Marietta; Charlie Stone, Austell; Thomas Aiken, Dallas; Gene Poole, Cornelia; Buddy Reynolds, Hiram, and Charlie Padgett, Marietta.

Non-Georgians entered include Iggy Katona, Toledo, Ohio; Mason Bright, Indianapolis; Nelson and Dudley Stacy, Cincinnati brothers; Willie Holt, Indianapolis, and Sam Colvin, Greenville, S.C.

Thompson will be driving a new 1958 Ford convertible for the season's opening race. Sosebee will drive his '56 Chevrolet, while Colvin will be behind the wheel of Sosebee's '57 Plymouth. Others slated to be driving '58s include Katona, in a Ford, and Bright, in a Chevrolet.

The race is the first of a record number of MARC-promoted events slated for the 1958 season in five Southeastern states.

Georgia Wall of Fame Installs Five Immortals

Nally, Derrick, Day, Maffett, Richardson Honored by Bulldogs

Special to The Constitution

ATHENS—Five immortal University of Georgia athletes were installed into the Bulldogs' Wall of Fame in the fifth annual ceremonies on the stage of the Palace Theater here Friday night.

They were the late R. B. (Cow) Nally of Villa Rica; Claude Derrick of Clayton, the late Nolen Richardson of Atlanta; A. M. (Bum) Day of Douglas (now of Grand Rapids, Mich.) and Herb Maffett of Toccoa (now of New York City).

Bill Munday of Atlanta, an immortal Bulldog himself, was master of ceremonies. He characterized Nally, star left halfback on Pop Warner's 1896 team, as Georgia's "outstanding athlete of the 1890s."

He referred to Derrick, captain of Georgia's 1908 southern championship baseball team, as "the first University of Georgia graduate to make the big leagues in professionall baseball." Derrick played for Connie Mack's World Champion Philadelphia A's in 1911-12.

Munday, who was a teammate of Richardson at Georgia, praised him as "the greatest fielding shortstop in baseball history." Richardson and second baseman Joe Gordon set an amazing double play record of 197 in 154 games for Newark (International) in 1937.

Munday said that Maffett, captain of Georgia's 1930 football team, had "no superior as an all-around end." He quoted Wallace Wade as saying, " 'Maffet in 1929 against Alabama, turned in the greatest performance at end I have ever seen.' " time last year—one that included such experienced flingers as Fred Vogel, Earl Mossor and Paul Stuffel. None of that trio lasted long at Atlanta, but newcomers of less proven caliber did—fellows like Don Nottebart and Ken MacKenzie, just-out-of-Yale lefty with no previous pro experience.

Bates may possibly have a "surprise package" or two like MacKenzie this year. For instance, Chuck Duren, the 6-7 moonfixer from Missouri semi-pro ranks, has as good stuff as any hurler on the premises and is a long-shot to win a berth on the staff.

A Saturday session will wind up the pre-exhibition games' phase of spring training. Games will be played against Wichita here for each of the next 11 days. Sunday games will start at 2 p.m., week day games at 1:30.

Red Shield Boys Edge Peachtree

Tommy McFarland and Jack Pollock led Red Shield Boys Club and Hapeville to victories Friday in the 12-and-under division of the Gold Medal Basketball Tournament.

McFarland scored 14 points in Red Shield's 30-27 decision over defending champion Peachtree Civitans; Pollock, 15 in Hapeville's 24-23 edging of Atlanta Boys' Club. Play resumes Monday night at 8:15 p.m., with Peachtree Kiwanis meeting Capitol View.

ALL OUTDOORS

TALL OUTDOORS TALES ARE AS AMERICAN AS APPLE PIE

By CHARLES ELLIOTT
Constitution Outdoor Columnist

One Americanism which is accepted even in the strictest circles is that any huntsman or fisher-fellow is licensed to stretch the facts of his endeavors in taking game and fish, without being branded as a liar or deceiver.

Charles Elliott

No one has ever been able to tell me just how much stretching the truth will take before it completely loses its chastity. I have a vague notion that it depends on who is telling a story, rather than on what is told.

Take this one, for instance. The other night we were on a train to White Plains, in New York state. All the seats in the car had been taken, and one of the passengers elected to stand by the door leading into the vestibule, rather than try to find a seat for himself in another car.

Bill Rae and I were in the seat next to the door, and I guess it's natural that we should be exercising our vocal arrangements about hunting and fishing, and that this guy should have an ear stuck right into the middle of our conversation. The fact is, that the first time he found an opening, he got all the way in.

We didn't mind. He was a good-natured sort of joker and had a couple of interesting yarns to add to the train ride. So we recognized him as a member of the clan and let him into the circle.

Bill and I had been talking about fish and fishing, and recounting a few experiences we'd had together hither and yon. How this fellow switched the conversation from bass to bears, I still haven't been able to figure out, but the first thing we knew, we were listening to a tall yarn from Alaska, where he had been stationed with the Army.

"You should-a seen that big bear charge," he declared. "He was taller 'n a telephone pole and he come right at us, standing up on his hind legs. He could've smashed our jeep with one of his paws, if he'd a-got that close.

"We didn't have nothin' but M-1 rifles, but we piled out and let 'im have it. He still come a-charging on his hind legs right up the side of a big ditch, and I didn't think the rifles would put him down.

"But he stopped on the side of the ditch and we kept pumpin' lead. Then he slowly toppled over and fell back into the ditch. We had to go get a wrecker with a crane to pull him out."

That was an interesting story, surely, except that the fellow must have got it second-hand from somewhere. Bears don't charge on their hind legs and I doubt that a big Kodiak could walk up a steep bank without having all four feet on the ground. Just a little unimportant detail, that didn't detract in any way from the drama of the story, but simply catalogued it in the tall tales department.

Now I am of the opinion that no hunter or fisherman should let a small detail like facts interfere with a good story, but some guys simply become over-enthusiastic in their presentation. And oddly enough, there is usually some small detail which gives the yarn away, especially from a guy who is more experienced in telling stories than he is in the outdoors. Like the fellow not long ago who told me about catching three largemouth black bass that weighed 23, 25 and 26 pounds—and what a terrific fight he had on his hands before he landed each one.

His story was graphic and interesting. Who was I to spoil it by telling him that he had just landed three world record fish—all in the same story? Maybe he did. And stupid me—I forgot to ask him the name of that lake!

La Salle Pitches Reins to Moore

Sports Arena Blues Open AAU Play with RI Team

From Press Dispatches

Donald (Dudey) Moore, who coached Duquesne to five National Invitation Tournaments in 10 years, Friday was named head basketball coach at LaSalle College.

Moore, 47, replaces Jim Pollard, former Minneapolis Laker star, who quit Tuesday. Pollard produced winning teams for three seasons, but never coached the Explorers to a post-season tournament.

LaSalle officials consider only tournament teams successful ones. LaSalle last appeared in a tournament in 1955, when it lost to San Francisco in the NCAA finals.

Moore signed a three-year contract and said, "I came to LaSalle because it was an opportunity to improve myself financially."

At Duquesne John (Red) Manning, 28, was expected to succeed Moore. Manning is freshman coach.

Sports In Brief

MORE BASKETBALL—The 30th Women's National AAU basketball tourney opens Sunday at St. Joseph, Mo. Atlanta's Sports Arena Blues meet Conemicut of Providence, R.I., Sunday at 4 p.m. in one of eight first-round games.

BOXING—Carmen Basilio boxed seven rounds as he neared the end of training for his title defense March 25. He boxed seven rounds with sparring mates. . . . A heavy snowfall kept Sugar Ray Robinson from doing road work, but he spent extra time in the gym and sparred four rounds. . . . Lightweight Dale Mallett, Lees-Regional championship of All-Navy tourney.

MISCELLANY—A compromise on aid to athletes has been hinted at a special Pacific Coast Conference meeting. The aid issue provoked California, UCLA and Southern Cal to withdraw from the 42-year-old athletic league.

Torrid Ford Takes Lead At Pensacola

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—Everything went right for Doug Ford Friday and the veteran Mohapac, N.Y., pro jumped into the lead in the Pensacola Open golf tournament with a flashy seven under par 65.

The round gave Ford a 36-hole total of 70-65—135 and a one-stroke lead over young Ken Venturi.

Venturi, who "learned" the course Friday, had a 33-33—66 to go with his opening round 70. He and Ford had been in a nine-way tie for 13th place going into the round.

Ford's hot round spelled a definite end to the slump the 1957 Masters champion had encountered on the winter pro circuit. The 32-33—65 card, Ford's best of the year, came on seven birdies and the rest even pars.

The low scorers in Friday's second round of the Pensacola Open golf tournament:

Doug Ford, 70-65—135; Ken Venturi, 70-66—136; Frank Stranahan, 68-70—138; Art Wall Jr., 71-67—138; Wes Ellis Jr., 69-69—138; Ted Kroll, 74-65—139; Don Fairfield, 71-69—140; Tommy Jacobs, 69-71—140; Otto Griener, 67-73—140; Dave Thomas, 69-72—141; Walter Burkemo, 70-71—141.

Gators Get Montgomery Favorite Tag

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 14 (UP) — Florida's well - balanced track team was the odds-on favorite to sweep the second annual coliseum relays here Saturday and perhaps use the title as a stepping stone to the Southeastern Conference track championship in late spring.

Eleven colleges, including seven SEC squads, and more than 30 high schools will compete in the mammoth indoor stadium.

Collegiate entries, besides Florida, include Alabama, Auburn, Clemson, Florida State, Georgia, Georgia Tech, Kentucky, Mississippi State, Presbyterian and Troy State.

Among the top stars running will be Florida's Ellis Goodloe, league champion in the 100-yard sprint last year, and Jack Terwiliger, Florida State's 60-yard champ.

Both Goodloe and Terwiliger have been clocked in under 10 seconds for the 100-yard dash.

Toombs, Jones in C Finals; Forsyth Plays for B Crown

By RALPH GREGORY
Constitution Sports Writer

MACON—Strange as it seems, North Georgia had a plurality as the state girls B and C basketball championships go up for final campaigning Saturday night.

For the first time in recent years South Georgia had only one delegate left in the finals and the class B crown is assured for the upper state.

CLASS B SCORING LEADERS

	G.	TP.	Avg.
Jane Carroll, Forsyth Co.	2	51	25.5
Hazel Hicks, Stone Mountain	2	50	25.0

Marlene Edge, Doerun	2	43	21.5

Toombs Central, Jimmy Conner's unbeaten team from Lyons, became the only remaining South Georgia team Friday night by grabbing a 50-38 victory over Clay County. Conner's team, winners of 33 straight, faces Jones County of Gray in Saturday's C finals at 7 p.m. Jones ousted Vienna, 46-39.

Forsyth County of Cumming further established itself as the favored B club by coasting past Treutlen, 76-44. Dallas gained the opposing spot in the finals by outgunning Stone Mountain, 51-39. Those two meet at 8:20 Saturday for the B crown.

One moré unbeaten mark fell in Friday's round. Vienna, winners of 31 straight, suffered the season's first loss but made it tough for Jones County, popular favorite of the third straight overflow crowd.

But Dallas, which brought along a large supporting delegation to watch its best tournament effort in history, rolled on to its 20th straight victory with a convincing romp past Stone Mountain. Now the Ernest Craton team must find a way to stop Forsyth's three-pronged offense.

Smooth-working Dallas, making its boldest bid for the state's charmed circle, had do-everything Nancy Morris to outshoot Stone Mountain's tall Hazel Hicks and Melinda Austin left over to provide a comfortable point margin. Morris had 29 points and Austin 18 while Hicks collected 26 for Stone Mountain.

Hagge Tops Titleholders With 74-75-149 Report

tossed the role of favorite in pre-tournament speculations.

The day was full of excitement. Earlier in the day fans were stunned to see Mary Lena Faulk's score zoom from the 82 she shot Thursday to 118 before she had even teed off on her second round.

It seem that Mary Lena inadventently carried an extra putter in her bag Thursday which put her one over the 14-limit prescribed under rules of United States Golf Assn.

However, she did get a lot of satisfaction Friday by shooting a 74, lowest effort of the cold, windy day.

The weather sent the scores skyrocketing for the most part. Better weather is in store for Saturday, according to the forecast. It is supposed to be mild and clear, with even warmer weather for Sunday's finale.

Mrs. Hagge, whose best finish here was a third last year (301), could have improved considerably on her 75 Friday had she been able to sink a few more sizeable putts.

Marlene hit 15 greens in regulation, but needed 35 putts. One of the biggest casualties of the day was Sea Island's Louise Suggs, a three-time Titleholders winner. Louise, who started with a creditable 76, skidded to a 43-43—86 Friday to stand in 14th place.

Brookhaven, Folds Win

With James Gordon and Bobby Baldwin providing 27 and 14-point fire power, Folds Bros. rocketed into the Hapeville Gold Medal tourney semifinals with a 79-58 decision over Schlitz Friday night.

Brookhaven also moved into the semis via the forfeit route, courtesy of Atlanta Rockets.

Saturday's semifinals find Smith-East vs. Brookhaven in the 7:30 opener, with Rich's colliding with Folds in the 9 o'clock finale.

McIntyre Belts Mighty Yankee

The tag team of Kurt von Brawner and Karl Heinkler whipped Ray Gunkel and Rocky Colombo in 19 minutes; Red Lyons decisioned The Giant in 16 minutes and Columbo stopped Heinkler via the disqualification route in nine minutes.

WHITSETT REBUILDS

Grey Knights Looking to Stepp For Way Up 3-AAA Ladder

By PAUL ATKINSON

If Grady's Grey Knights are to get into baseball step in 3-AAA East, they must do it on the pitching of Chad Stepp.

The righthander is one of six hurlers on whom the burden of pulling Grady into diamond respectability will fall, according to coach E. E. (Red) Whitsett.

"We have a lot of people who'll pitch," Whitsett said Thursday. "How well they'll pitch, we don't know. Besides Stepp, Billy Sanders, Alvin Rogell, Ivy Entrekin, Bobby Dodd Jr., Larry Peek and Bill Kennedy will throw.

"Right now, we lack experience. Most of the fellows don't play summer baseball, and we're finding it difficult to compete with the other city schools whose kids are out in the summer. We'll try to keep 'em together this summer, and maybe we'll be able to go with the other schools pretty soon."

The losses suffered through graduation by Grady weren't too severe. Eddie Brandt, a keen-fielding, slick-hitting infielder, is gone; so is Jerry Andrews, an outfielder. Past that, however, most everyone returns.

In the infield, Alex Long and Dodd, when he is not pitching, will play second base; Bobby Davis will be the shortstop, and the football "Bull of Parkway Drive," Larry Lafkowitz, goes at third base. John Sower, a sophomore, will handle first base.

Catching will be in the hands of Charles Windham and Johnny Johnson, both capable but not spectacular.

The outfield has only two bona fide candidates in left-hand swinging Jerry Duncan and Hilton Fuller. They will be aided by the pitchers when they aren't drawing hurling or infielding assignments.

"We don't have large numbers," Whitsett resumed. "So everyone has to be real versatile. All of 'em have a good attitude, and they seem to want to play.

"Back to pitching, Stepp and Sanders appear to be my No. 1 hurlers. But Entrekin and Peek need only some game testing, and they figure to be taking a regular turn not too deep into the campaign.

A summation of his Knights? "Well, we won't have too much hitting, and the pitching is real questionable. It could develop; then, I don't know. Don't put us too high . . . not this season anyway."

1958 GRADY ROSTER

Catchers—Charles Windham, Johnny Johnson.
Pitchers—Chad Stepp, Billy Sanders, Alvin Rogell, Ivy Entrekin, Bobby Dodd, Larry Peek, Bill Kennedy.
Infielders—John Sower, Alex Long, Bobby Davis, Larry Lafkowitz.
Outfielders—Jerry Duncan, Hilton Fuller, all pitchers.

Pistons Battle Royals in TV Cage Feature

You'll find baseball, ice hockey, golf and the last whisps of professional basketball on your TV-radio sports lineup Saturday afternoon.

WSB-TV (Ch. 2) carries the basketball, screening the first of a best two-of-three quarter-final playoff series between Detroit Pistons and the Cincinnati Royals. Tipoff at 2 p.m.

The New York Rangers and Boston Bruins do ice hockey battle at the same hour, this one on WAGA-TV (Ch. 5). And for the golfers, they come forth at 4 on WLW-A (Ch. 11).

Radio (WGST) picks up the Chicago White Sox' Grapefruit League duel with the transplanted Dodgers of Los Angeles. First pitch is at 8:15 p.m.

Stars Are Born on THE ORIGINAL AMATEUR HOUR with Ted Mack Saturday, 10:00 P.M., Channel 2

HIGHLIGHTS

PAUL JONES' PICK OF THE DAY—There's nothing finer than a real, old-fashioned program of Irish music and that's what we're going to have on the Perry Como show Saturday night.

A medley of Irish melodies will be featured when Perry Como salutes St. Patrick with the help of Maureen O'Hara, one of Erin's fairest, the McGuire Sisters, three girls who know how to sing with an Irish accent, too, and Jack Carter, a clown if you ever saw one.

The colorcast will begin at 8 p.m. on Channel 3.

DRAMA

Paladin rides into a small town to find that a rancher has threatened to burn the school unless the teacher retracts some remarks. Richard Boone stars. Channel 5 at 9:30 p.m.

Joey and Peewee run up against two young hooligans who are out to prove how tough they are—and almost succeed—in "Rogues and Squares," on Fury.—Channel 2 at 11 a.m.

George Baxter receives a series of threatening letters and Detective Mark Saber traces them to Baxter's business partner, who is found dead, in Detective's Diary. — Channel 2 at 12:30 p.m.

VARIETY

Oscar Hammerstein II, lyricist and librettist, will be guest on the Mike Wallace Interview. Channel 11 at 10 p.m.

HE GOT HUNGRY

Nicky Behind Bars

Ape Swaps Freedom For Food

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Nicky, the Barbary ape, gambled his freedom for food Friday. He won the food but lost his freedom.

The tailless monkey began a 17-hour unauthorized leave Thursday afternoon when he escaped from his cage on the deck of the Navy's supply ship Antares. The ship had brought him here from Gibraltar for the Memphis zoo, a gift of the British admiral in command of the fortress rock.

Nicky shinnied up the rigging and eluded all attempts by the ship's crew to recapture him with a net.

Cmdr. J. F. Miller, the Antares' skipper, decided to wait until morning. A small heater was sent topside to keep Nicky warm. A searchlight was focused on him so he couldn't pull any fast tricks unobserved.

Friday morning the crew rigged a cage trap and baited it with a breakfast of bananas, lettuce, carrots and water.

Shortly before 10 a.m. hungry Nicky made a cautious descent. Slowly, he approached the food.

"The monkey's under the cage," the chief petty officer shouted.

"Pull," the skipper commanded.

Yank went the rope. Down came the cage.

"Got him," the crewman shouted in triumph.

And life aboard the USS Antares returned to normal.

GEORGIA NEWS ROUNDUP

Truck Upsets, Injuring 14 Students at Berry

Fourteen Berry High School students were injured, four of them seriously, when the panel-type truck in which they were riding overturned on a Berry School campus road early Friday.

Seriously injured were Donnie Daniell of Aragon, George Dudley of St. Andrews, Fla.; Junior Hall of Dalton and David Welch of Cuthbert.

Daniell suffered a fractured skull, Dudley and Hall received spine fractures and Welch received a fractured pelvis. All four were taken to the Floyd County Hospital.

Other students taken to Floyd included Russell Parks of Atlanta, Glen Thurber of Temple, Terry Lanier, Tallapoosa; L. H. Easterling of Rome and Kenneth McKenzie of Center, Ala. None of these was believed seriously injured.

Athens Buses Stop

Athens bus service ends Saturday night, a victim of dwindling revenue. Athens City Lines said Friday it could no longer meet its payroll and would be forced to end operations Saturday night. The company said "jitney" cabs in Athens drove the buses out of business. . . . David L. Edmundson, 31, of Jesup, was crushed to death by a load of logs he was hauling Friday when his truck wrecked, sending the logs crashing from the truck bed into the vehicle's cab. . . . Mr. and Mrs. James E. Spiers of Macon and their seven children were shaken up Thursday night when their car was struck by a second auto in Macon. . . . Augusta police are searching for a pistol-packing prowler who has out-fought and out-foxed two Augusta policemen on two successive nights.

Car Ring Broken Up; 6 Youths Seized Here

By KEELER McCARTNEY

An automobile theft ring bossed by a 14-year-old was believed broken Friday with the arrest of six young youths, police said. A seventh ring member is being sought out of state.

Police said the group was responsible for the theft of at least seven automobiles in Atlanta and College Park. They added most of the cars were stripped and abandoned.

The 14-year-old who was identified as the leader first attempted to steal an automobile at the age of 8, officers related. They said he told them he was unable to get the machine started.

College Park Lt. E. E. Peppers and Sgt. S. M. Gaston identified those under arrest as Milton Suggs, 21, of 114 Harrison Rd., College Park, released under $1,000 bond on charges of larceny from auto and receiving stolen goods Billy Bishop, 17, of 152 Cherry St., College Park, held under $1,000 bond for auto larceny, and Ralph D. Chambers, 17, of 104 Waits Ave., College Park, held at the College Park jail on charges of auto larceny and larceny from an auto.

Officers said they had obtained a warrant for the arrest of Richard Lee, 17, of 249 Calloway St., College Park, charging four counts of auto larceny. They added Bobby King, 18, of Dobbins Air Force Base in Marietta, was released to military authorities on charges of larceny from an auto, and two youths under 17 years of age were turned over to Clayton County juvenile authorities.

Car Flips, Hits Wall in Police Chase

Four youths escaped injury Friday when a car alleged to have been stolen, overturned during a police chase and hit a rock wall and a garage on 14th street, NW, police said.

Two, identified as Kenneth Futrelle, 18, of 419 Luckie St., NW, and Ronald Nations, 17, of 227 Pine St., NW, were lodged in city jail for suspicion of auto larceny.

Two others, one 15 and the second 13, were turned over to juvenile authorities. Patrolmen E. H. Odum and H. L. Whalen said the 13-year-old was intoxicated.

Lt. L. T. Bullard and Detective Harry Williams said the car was spotted by Patrolman L. F. Harris 30 minutes after it had been reported stolen from Ponce de Leon avenue and Peachtree street, Northeast.

Harris gave chase on Atlantic drive. As the car approached 14th street, it appeared to swerve, went out of control and over turned against the wall and garage owned by Mrs. J. H. Green of 328 14th St., NW.

Bandits Grab $15 But Miss Store's Cash

Two robberies were reported Friday, one in Atlanta and the other in College Park.

R. L. Shoemaker of 108 Driftwood Pl., Decatur, collector for an Atlanta jewelry firm, said a Negro man grabbed him in the 500 block of Markham street, SW, and attempted to take his wallet.

Shoemaker said he struggled with the man, that they fell to the street and the assailant managed to get the wallet containing $15.

Two Negro bandits got $15 and missed considerably more in a robbery of a grocery store on West Harvard avenue in College Park. Lt. E. E. Peppers and S. M. Gaston said J. R. Barnes and his mother, Mrs. Mae Barnes, had closed for the day, locked the door and were leaving when the two appeared with guns.

They ordered Barnes and his mother back into the store, grabbed Mrs. Barnes' purse and fled. Officers said the two evidently thought Mrs. Barnes carried a large sum of money in the purse. Police said she had placed the bulk of the money elsewhere.

IN OUR CHURCHES: Congregation To Pull Plow at Groundbreaking

By KAY McLEOD

Members of the First Christian Church will be literally pulling together Sunday when they break ground for their new half-million-dollar church plant.

Rev. Sosebee

This groundbreaking service will utilize—not the usual shovel—but a plow.

Three ropes will be attached to the plow and the women, men and children will grab hold and pull. The preacher will handle the rains and the church officers will walk along behind to make sure everything stays in line.

The Rev. James Sosebee, pastor, says this ceremony will be symbolic of the part every member must play in building the new church on Briarcliff road, at the Byway, NE.

The new building, as envisioned by the architects, is to be a contemporary structure with an exterior of wood-moulded brick and a slate tile roof.

The 616-seat sanctuary will be topped with a 45-foot fleche.

First Christian Church, organized in 1848, is one of the oldest churches in Atlanta. The first building was located on Decatur street. This building was destroyed by Sherman's troops in 1864 and the congregation moved to Hunter. In 1905 the present building at Pryor and Trinity streets was built.

The initial units of the building include the sanctuary and an educational building which will house 800. A $50,000 fellowship hall is to be added later.

Latter-day Saints

Two officials of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints are in Atlanta this weekend to address a conference of the Atlanta Stake.

Elder Alma Sonne, assistant to the Council of Twelve Apostles and Elder Donald D. Davis, a member of the welfare committee, are the visitors.

Conference sessions will be held at 10 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Sunday in the Stake House at 1450 Ponce de Leon Ave., NE.

Pastorium Dedication

The new pastorium of the Northside Drive Baptist Church will be dedicated at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Dr. James P. Wesberry, president of the Georgia Baptist Convention and pastor of the Morningside Baptist Church, will preach the dedicatory sermon and the prayer of dedication will be given by Dr. Gainer E. Bryan, secretary of the state Training Union Department.

Open House will be held immediately following the dedication.

Junior Choir Sings

The junior choir of Peachtree Christian Church will present Sunday's Evening Bells service.

The young songsters have selected six anthems, including John Holler's "Lead Us, Heavenly Father," a French Lenten carol, "Jesus Blest Redeemer," by Grieg, and "Jesus, Whom Thy Children Love."

This will be the first time in the 30-year history of the Evening Bells series that the junior choir has had complete charge of the program.

At Powder Springs

Bishop Arthur J. Moore will dedicate the Sunday School annex of the Powder Springs Methodist Church Sunday morning.

Speakers at an afternoon service include the Rev. Gordon Strickland and the Rev. J. W. Scarborough, former pastors of the church.

Baptist Congress

The 13th annual Georgia Baptist Royal Ambassador Congress will be held next Thursday through Saturday at Rock Eagle Park, Eatonton.

Some 600 Georgia RA's are expected to attend the three-day meet. The congress theme will be "Living Together as Christians."

Baptist Leaders

The spring meeting of the executive committee of the Georgia Baptist Convention will be held of Morningside Baptist Church at 10 a.m. Tuesday. Some 150 Georgia Baptist leaders are expected to attend the session.

World Missions

North Avenue Presbyterian will hold a World Missions Conference beginning Sunday.

Services will be held at 8:45 and 11 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. Sundays and at noon and 7:45 p.m. through Wednesday.

Guest speakers at the conference will be Dr. Jas. A. Jones, president of Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Va.; Dr. C. Darby Fulton, moderator of the general assembly of World Mission of the denomination; Dr. Harold J. Ockenga, pastor of Park Street Church, Boston, Mass., and Dr. Hugh Bradley, field secretary of world mission of the Presbyterian Church.

At each of the services, a missionary home on leave will tell of his work.

An all-night prayer service will be held from 7 p.m. Saturday night to 7 a.m. Sunday morning at the church.

Baptismal Service

The Forest Park Episcopal Mission will hold its first baptismal service next Sunday.

The new mission is meeting at 11:15 a.m. Sundays in the Sunday School Building at the Atlanta General Depot.

Billy Graham

The Narrow Christian Path Is What Brings Tolerance

QUESTION: I understand that you teach there is but one way of salvation. Don't you think teaching such a narrow religion tends to create an intolerance and narrowness? — A. P.

ANSWER: It is one of the great paradoxes of all time that the Christian faith, which presents such a narrow way of salvation, is at the same time the greatest force the world has ever known to promote love and understanding. It is true that Jesus said, "I am the way, the truth and the life," and the Apostle preached, "Neither is there salvation in any other." Yet this very message has brought peace and understanding into every country that has accepted it.

Those who choose the broad way are the very ones who are promoting intolerance and bigotry. Christians may try to persuade and convince, but Christianity is committed against forcing our belief upon anyone. Thus the very exclusiveness of Christianity produces tolerance and understanding among the peoples where it has been most accepted.

Griffin Hails Tufted Textiles At Dalton

DALTON (AP)—The tufted textile industry and the Georgia woman who started it with sale of a $2.50 bedspread were paid tribute today by Gov. Marvin Griffin.

The governor, speaking at dedication of the national headquarters building of the Tufted Textile Manufacturers Assn., said the industry, now spread to Tennessee, Alabama, North and South Carolina, produced 350 million dollars worth of goods during the past year.

The headquarters building is across the street from the residence of Mrs. Catherine Evans Whitener, founder of the tufted textile industry at the turn of the century.

Griffin said the Tufted Textile Manufacturers Assn. had grown from 12 members in 1945 to 65 members and 89 associate members.

Stop Atlanta Mixing, Vandiver Tells Mayor

Hartsfield also came under attack from State Rep. A. A. Fowler Jr., of Douglas County, a candidate for lieutenant governor. He offered to debate the mayor on the unit system at any place including Atlanta.

"Hartsfield is trying to put the same black majority in control of the government of Georgia as he does in the control of the city of Atlanta," Fowler said.

Although the mayor denied a plan to attack the county unit system via an independent against the gubernatorial nominee in next fall's general election, there were persistent reports he discussed the possibility with several persons.

He contacted Secretary of State Ben Fortson's office to get an opinion on petitions seeking to have the name of an independent candidate placed on the general election ballot. Hartsfield said he was told five per cent of the qualified voters living anywhere in Georgia could order the name placed on the ballot. Hartsfield was interested to know if county lines would be a barrier to the five per cent. The opinion was they would not.

Hartsfield has told confidants he believed an announcement prior to the primary would remove from the independent candidate the label of "bolting the primary."

Hartsfield was the nominee for a four-year term in last May's city primary. He was opposed by Lester Maddox, restaurant operator, in the Dec. 4 general city election. One of the mayor's principal appeals was for support of the primary. He won.

Mayor Hartsfield telephoned the Constitution Friday night the following statement: "As a lifelong Democrat, I have no plans for any independent general election campaign. As unfair as they are, county unit primaries in Georgia are and have been for years tantamount to election."

2 Arrested In Raid on Lottery HQ

Metropolitan Lottery Squad officers Friday raided a lottery headquarters, arrested two persons, and then grabbed up four others in rapid succession.

The two arrested in the headquarters raid were identified as Russell T. Roberts, 32, and his wife, Martha, 36, Negroes, of 1699 Porter Dr., Northwest.

Lt. W. M. Cox, head of the squad, said Roberts and his wife were placed under $7,500 bonds each pending a hearing at 7:30 a.m. Saturday in Municipal Court.

A short time later, police arrested Henry Lemon, 36, and Cecelia Tyler, 38, Negroes, of 287 Fort St., NE, and confiscated lottery sheets.

Cox said they arrested Wayne Jones, 23, Negro, of 1054 Mayson Turner Ave., NW, accused of being a lottery banker, and confiscated the car he was driving, along with lottery sheets.

Late-Night Fire Levels House

Fire of undetermined origin leveled a five-room frame house at 1233 Clairmont Rd. in DeKalb County late Friday night.

The alarm was turned in by Bobby Weaver, attendant at a service station nearby. Weaver said he saw flames shooting from the roof.

Owned by Mrs. C. L. Peacock, the building was moved with its furnishings intact about a month ago to make room for a bank now being built in the North Decatur shopping center.

ATLANTA NEWS

2 Chains Drop Check Fee; Grocers Put Off Decision

A proposal to abolish the 10-cent charge for cashing checks at Atlanta grocery stores was tabled Friday by the Food Industry Committee.

Two Atlanta supermarket chains —Food Town and Big Apple— said they are stopping the charge initiated Jan. 4 by almost all food stores here.

Yellow Line Ruling

The Georgia Court of Appeals ruled Friday that a solid yellow center line does not have the legal force of prohibiting drivers from crossing to pass other automobiles. The decision came in an opinion ordering a new trial for Ralph Maxwell of Rome, who had been convicted of involuntary manslaughter in the commission of an unlawful act. . . . The four-day Southeastern Photographers' Assn. convention and trade show opens Saturday at the Biltmore Hotel with 400 photographers expected.

Counterfeit Hunt

The Secret Service said it is looking for the "supplier" of counterfeit $10 and $20 bills that are circulating in Georgia and neighboring states. . . . Materials worth $50 to $100 are being stolen daily from houses being demolished on property purchased by Fulton County for expressway purposes, county land agent William R. Greenleaf said.

Road Projects

The State Highway Department opened bids Friday on construction totaling $11,500,000, including Fulton: (federal aid project) underpass and paved approaches at Baker Street and Piedmont avenue on the Atlanta North-South Expressway, McDougald Construction Co., $507,894, and DeKalb: (rural roads project) 5.619 miles of grading and paving and one bridge on the River road, Dalon Construction Co., Inc., $198,579; 3.347 miles of grading and paving and one bridge on Rockbridge road, Dalton Construction Co., $145,492.

Robbery Indictments

The Fulton County grand jury Friday returned robbery indictments against Ernest Foster, 25, of 315 Cain St., NE; Edward Lee Mosley, 24, of 103 Fort St., NE; William Henry Ham, 21, also of 103 Fort St., NE, and William R. Jenkins, 24, of 353½ Lyons Ave., NE. Robbery indictments were also returned against men listed as Ronald P. Jordan, 18, of Springfield, Mass., John B. Caher, 19, of Chicago, and Robert E. Gochnour, 20, of Weiser, Idaho.

TOP TEENS

Two Senior Leaders Lauded

George Fiebelkorn, Grady senior who faced great personal tragedy with dauntless faith and courage, and Jane Flemister, Sylvan senior whose unselfish work for her church has endeared her to young people and adults, have been selected the first Top Teens of 1958.

George, one of Grady's most popular students, "has shown poise, mature judgment, and genuine regard for others throughout his high school career." When George lost both his parents by death within a short time, he shouldered the responsibilities as leader for his younger brother and sister, and helps a married sister keep the family together.

"But he never once failed in his leadership duties to his classmates, particularly the Grady chapter of the Co-ed Hi-Y, of which he is president," declared a member of that group, the nominating organization. "And he maintained his high scholastic standing."

George Fiebelkorn

Jane Flemister

REAL LEADER

"His quiet and unassuming manner, and real leadership abilities, have endeared him to students and teachers alike," a faculty member added. "He always accepts his duties with a cheerful smile."

In addition to being president of the Grady chapter of the Hi-Y, Georgie is an outstanding leader of the senior class, and represented his school at the 12th annual Youth Assembly.

Jane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Caskey, was nominated by the senior department of the First Methodist Church of East Point, where the attractive student is a faithful and active member. A talented musician, Jane plays the organ for the 8:30 morning worship services at her church and, after attending her own Sunday School class where she plays the piano, she goes to Hyatt Memorial Church to direct music for the congregation's morning worship hour. She's a member of the Youth Choir at the East Point church, and directs the Junior Choir of 50 voices.

Jane has the Grand Cross of Color, highest honor in the Rainbow Girls, and holds the office of Worthy Advisor in the local unit of that organization, in addition to her duties as state grand treasurer.

Rev. George King, pastor, First Methodist Church of East Point, declared Jane is "held in highest regard by young people and adults. The children are devoted to her, and adults hold her in highest favor."

While Jane has "almost an all-A average—only three B's," her school counsellor pointed out she is highly qualified as a Top Teen not only for her classroom work, but because of her "willingness to use her musical talent for others. This places her in the service - beyond - the - call - of - duty category."

At Sylvan, where Jane is president of the Christian Youth Fellowship and vice president of the senior class, her classmates see her as "genuinely humble, blessed with a delightful sense of humor." She is vice president of the Beta Club, secretary of the National Honor Society, class editor of the yearbook, and in the cast of the senior play.

PART-TIME JOB

In addition, Jane works part-time at Rich's. Her employer, adding to the girl's recommendation as a Top Teen, said Jane is "extremely dependable . . . one of our hardest workers. She possesses initiative and unusual ability."

Members of the WABE Teen Board, who judged this week's nominations, include Albert Anderson, Northside; Tom Raiford, Druid Hills; Brenda Eason, Russell, and Sara Adams, Bass.

The judges, Jane and George, and Miss Lillian Lee will appear on a special salute to the Top Teens at 2 p.m. Sunday on WAGA-TV. They will participate in a panel discussion on "What is a square?"

MARIST STUDENT IS JUNIOR SKEET CHAMPION

Clay Threeton Jr. Won Title at Augusta Shoot

High-Flying Tin Can Led to Championship

By YOLANDE GWIN

Clay Threeton threw a tin can into the air and yelled: "Fire!"

There was a loud bang, and the can flipped and fell to the ground.

"That's doing it, boy, now let's try again!" said Mr. Threeton.

And young Clay Threeton Jr. tried again. And again.

That was about 10 years ago, and since then Clay Jr. has been flipping cans, and hitting targets with precision.

He won in a shoot-off with Nick Johnson and Jimmy Sheehan, of Augusta, and T. W. Cecil Jr., of Spartanburg, S.C. Clay used a model 870 shotgun to break 92x100 targets. Nick, the runner-up, broke 91x100.

LAST CHANCE

"It was my last chance to win a junior title," said the slim young Marist College student. "The age limit is 16. I am 17 now."

A member of the rifle team at Marist, Clay said he planned to continue tournament shooting. Now he will be competing with adults, many of whom are champions.

"I suppose every boy has a gun some time in his life and does some hunting. I've had one of my own since I was 12 years old. Before that when I was learning to shoot I used one that belonged to Dad," he said.

"Dad" represents a firearms company here.

HUNT TOGETHER

The Threetons, father and son, go on many hunting trips together. And, as the son said," We do a little fishing but nothing really great. I'd rather shoot any day."

But what kind of a boy is this young champion? Here's what his mother said:

"Clay likes to go to dances, but he seldom has dates. He is very studious and makes an average of 97. And what makes me very proud is that he never gets any demerits!"

Do Books Influence Young People?

Do books have much influence on today's young people? Do teen-agers pass up reading good books in order to participate in more popular activities? Is teen-age reading confined to those books required for classroom work?

The Constitution will pay $10 to the high school student who writes the best letter on this subject, and $1 for each additional letter published. Address entries to Young Ideas Editor. Include name, address, age, school and grade. Letters must be postmarked by midnight Tuesday, March 18, and should not exceed 350 words.

North Fulton Seniors Plan Class Play

Helen Warwick will play the leading role in North Fulton High School's senior class production of Mary Roberts Rinehart's "Tish," to be presented on March 19, and again March 20 in the school auditorium.

Jane Kelley and Betty Bailey will portray Tish's two best friends and traveling companions; Marie Collins will be the hotel owner; Marvin Woolen will portray Tish's nephew, and Raymond Wallace will be the sheriff.

Other members of the cast include Jean Cruikshank, Decie Harling, Charlie Keiser, Judy Martin, Ernie Smith, Billy Whaley, and Cindy Wilkins.

The escapades of three "old maids" who purchase an antique automobile and decide to heed the suggestion to "go West" spark the production.

Class Paddlings Sting Students

Although a surprising number of Georgia students this week voiced approval of paddlings by teachers to quell classroom misbehavior, the majority believe the practice should be "outlawed."

And most of those who championed paddlings were quick to add that such disciplinary measures should be limited to elementary pupils.

Brown High student Nancy Kinsey, 16, who does not believe the paddle can be effectively used in today's schools, points out in her winning letter:

The few students who deserve to be whipped could be helped more by a conference with the teacher, principal and parents. Despite the work of the PTA, busy parents often do not know of their child's activities at school and must rely on school officials to a certain extent. . . . It is the parents' responsibility to teach respect and discipline. The paddle should serve as a positive means of punishment in the home.

If we are taught early to honor our teachers, we will . . . take pride in ourselves and our accomplishments as we study. . . . An eagerness to learn is indispensable to a student. It cannot be whipped into him, but he can be trained to take advantage of the priceless privilege of a good education.

Campbell senior Dot Kitchens, 17, agrees:

Dignity is essential to any educational program if it is to be effective. I would hate to be a high school teacher using corporal punishment to maintain discipline . . . it causes loss of dignity and respect to both. Student government is invaluable in maintaining discipline .

The teacher's primary responsibility is to impart knowledge and endow his students with the desire to learn. Infliction of physical punishment is certainly not a task normally expected of a teacher. . . . To put this task upon the teacher, who for the most part would be reluctant to assume this responsibility, would be most unfair.

Gary Holston, College Park, is among students who take the opposite view:

"Spare the rod and spoil the child." . . . No matter how old the saying is, it still holds true. Today, youngsters think they can get away with anything. Why? Because the child of today does not know the sting of a keen switch administered by the parents, much less by his teacher.

In lieu of paddlings, Mary Emma Brown, Crawfordville, 8th grader at Alexander Stephens Institute, suggests:

The teacher could cut deportment grades, make the student do some job, such as picking up papers on the school grounds, cutting grass or cleaning windows.

Melvin Bailey, 14-year-old student at Little Five Points school, approves paddlings, but adds:

The teacher should first give the student a warning, and then, if he doesn't obey, he should be given an old-fashioned paddling.

A Fitzgerald junior, Brenda Daniels, declares:

I don't believe that teachers should be allowed to paddle students in high school. Teenagers resent such childish punishment since they are trying to appear grown-up whatever their crime may be. . . . A really good teacher will not need to resort to such measures.

However in grammar school, it is a different story, especially in the lower grades. Some parents are not strict enough, but children who are disciplined at home seldom misbehave. When all other methods fail, an unruly child should be spanked, though not in front of his classmates.

FHA QUEEN — QUITMAN — Carol Brantley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Brantley, has been named queen of the Quitman High School chapter of Future Homemakers of America. Record Roundup

Top Tune Spotlight Focused on Atlanta

By BETTY CARROLLTON

Atlanta has long played a part in the making of hit tunes. Several songs that leaped to the top of national hit charts were born here, with local talent cutting the initial recording, or with Atlanta tunesmiths penning the winning words and music.

Once off the ground, however, other areas, better equipped for the task, have taken over in most instances.

But now Atlanta is recognized as an important part of the music world, with a new industry prepared to carry through with hit songs from beginning to end. A new record company, NR-CO., complete with the first pressing plant in the Southeast, already is in operation, concentrating on local talent and tunes with teen-age appeal.

Headed by Bill Lowery, publisher of such hits as "Be-Bop-A-Lula," "First Date, First Kiss" and "Young Love," the new firm has a smash in its first release: "Sweet Skinny Jennie," backed with "The Rock-A-Round" by Paul Peek and His Peek-A-Boos, sold more than 30,000 copies before it went on public sale last week. A former member of Gene Vincent's Blue Caps, Paul's style is typical of the rock 'n' roll vein NR-CO. will specialize in, although all types of records are planned in every field.

Atlanta's Joe South has a smash rockabilly in "I'm Snowed," the firm's second platter. Flip tune, "It's Only You," shows Joe's voice to better advantage on a pleasant ballad.

To round out a trio of top tunes, the fabulous Four Mints, personality-packed vocal group long a favorite of Atlantans, have waxed a dandy disc under the new label. One of the nation's most talented groups, The Four Mints face a future brighter than the Milky Way with their superb rendition of "Teen-Age Wonderland." Aimed at the campus set, the record has tremendous appeal for all ages. Flip tune, "Hey, Little Nell," is a change-of-pacer with rock 'n' roll flavor that strengthens The Four Mints' toehold on stardom.

April releases will include a fine arrangement of "Grown-Up Love" and "So In Love" by Smyrna's Joy Hood. Talented far beyond her 15 years, Joy's warm, vibrant voice comes through to good advantage on her first recording.

With albums scheduled for summer release, the company's Spring hit list is highlighted by a melodic portrait of the Dogwood City in her best dress: "Springtime in Atlanta" is beautifully described by the Artie Malvin Singers, vocalists on the Pat Boone TV show.

Recognizing potential hits is nothing new to the company's officials. Lowery has long been known as a TV personality and disc jockey, as well as a publisher. Vice president D. L. "Boots" Woodall, has 20 years' experience in the country and western field and will head this phase of the operation. Atlantan Ferrin Y. Mathews will serve as secretary-treasurer, and Joseph "Cotton" Carrier, who has known the fame of a successful TV and radio performer in his own right, will serve as talent scout.

"Atlanta is loaded with talent," Carrier observed, adding that he is especially interested in "borderline talent," youngsters that can adapt to more than one style and be built into "exciting recording personalities."

Explaining the policy of concentrating on the teen-age talent and material, Woodall declared:

"At least 75 per cent of the record buyers are teen-agers, and the teen-age population is steadily increasing. They know the kind of music they like, and we want to give in to them."

DISC DEBUTS: Ronnie Burns, whose acting talent has been nurtured on his parents' weekly TV series, makes his singing bow with "Double Date" and "Kinda Cute" . . . Jett Powers blasts off with "Go, Girl, Go" and "Teen-Age Quarrel."

HIT FOLLOW-UPS: Jimmie Rodgers continues his chart-shattering climb with "The Long Hot Summer" . . . "That's All I Need to Know" and "I Don't Want to Cry" effectively chants Sam Cooke . . . Marty Robbins continues his parade of hits with "Just Married" and "Stairway of Love" . . . Ricky Nelson gives "My Bucket's Got a Hole In It" the rockabilly treatment, backed with "Believe What You Say" . . . Frankie Avalon follows hit "Dede Dinah" with "Darlin'" and "You Excite Me" . . . While their "Get a Job" is still high on hit lists, The Silhouettes are "Headin' for the Poorhouse" on a new release, backed with "Miss Thing."

Nat "King" Cole scores again with "Do I Like It" and "Looking Back" . . . Bonnie Guitar returns with the country-flavored "Johnny Vagabond" and a pleasantly styled version of "A Very Precious Love" . . . A good chorus and fine orchestra backs Vaughn Monroe's upped-tempo treatment of "Somebody Else Is Taking My Place" and the cheerful novelty "There's No Place In This House" . . . The Playmates plead "Give Me Another Chance" and their catchy vocal cut-ups spark flip tune, "Let's Be Lovers."

Teen Talk

Teen-agers have several expressions they use when "things don't turn out like they are planned." Among them:

That's the way the cash registers.

That's the way the cookie crumbles.

That's the way the ball bounces.

That's the way the hay stacks.

That's the way the butter flies.

That's the way the bee buzzes.

That's the way the kitchen sinks.

That's the way the door steps.

(Editor's Note: Translations of such teen terms are published from time to time for the benefit of parents.)

Pat Boone's Local Fans Donate Dues

Pat Boone's Atlanta Fan Club has adopted the Easter seals sale to benefit crippled children as its pet project.

In a letter to Roy Collier Jr., treasurer of the Easter Seal Appeal for Greater Atlanta, Sandra Kelch, fan club president, and Charlyne Shaw, secretary, explained that members have been anxious to donate their monthly dues to a charity.

"It's not much money," they wrote, "because the club has been organized only two months, but we know it will help some.

"P.S. The amount of money we sent is $2.13."

Start the Day In a Chemise

By this time you are probably a little tired of the word "chemise." But as I've pointed out before, when we swing into a new fashion cycle, everything is affected by it.

So now we have the "morning" chemise—one of the most attractive and fresh-looking leisure fashions I've seen in a long time—a wonderful way to start the day. Actually, it's a breakfast coat cut like a chemise, banded low at the bottom, and with a big white collar and tie to give it the young look all chemise fashions have.

Day Nursery Group Reviews Standards

By ELIZABETH MORGAN

Improving the standards of day nurseries is the forte of Mrs. Winifred Moore, special day care consultant with the Child Welfare League of America.

Sponsored by the Sheltering Arms Day Nursery Assn., Mrs. Moore came to Atlanta this week to discuss day care licensing in the city and state. At present, Georgia has no statewide licensing law. Licensing for day nurseries is done at the local level, usually through health department control.

Mrs. Moore, co-author of a book called "The Creative Nursery Center," gave this description of a good nursery: "It continually uses new ideas, keeps in touch with current knowledge and uses what we learn about children."

Youngsters attend nurseries belonging to the Child Welfare League for a number of reasons, said Mrs. Moore. A majority come because their mothers are employed. In other cases, the home confinement of a sick member of a family may keep children from getting good care at home. Sometimes group experience in the nursery can help problems in a child's development or family relationships.

NEED COMES FIRST

In any case, first chance to attend the day nurseries is given to the children who need it. Fees are determined on a sliding scale according to the parents' ability to pay. But, Mrs. Moore insisted, "Need comes first."

Mrs. Moore helps member agencies work out nursery programs and community activities. They take an active part in community planning for children . . . even beyond the scope of the day nurseries, she added.

STANDARDS

The league, she commented, wants to improve nursery standards all around the country. Its members work for good health services, adequate play equipment and materials, a staff which understands needs of children, adequate care and guidance, casework services to help parents plan for their children.

A big order, but one of those jobs—the licensing program—brought Mrs. Moore to Atlanta. Day nursery operators from the city and the state got well-trained advice from Mrs. Moore.

Mother of a grown daughter, Mrs. Moore began working as a home economics teacher, got interested in child development and taught in a nursery school. She holds a master's degree in child development from Columbia University.

SPECIAL LIGHTS TO BE INSTALLED FOR KRESS ART COLLECTION

Abe Feder, Lighting Expert, Makes Test at Art Galleries

Expert Brings New Light Touch To Illuminate Kress Collection

By YOLANDE GWIN

The light touch of a nationally famous specialist has been given the world-famed Samuel Kress collection of art masterpieces earmarked for the Atlanta Art Galleries.

Abe Feder, who designed the special lights for the collection of 27 paintings and three pieces of sculpture, flew into town to meet with contractors and engineers. He also did some brief testing and examining of the fixtures which are considered an entirely new concept in museum lighting.

The Atlanta collection will be the first in the United States with lighting designed and lighted by Mr. Feder, widely known as a theatrical lighting expert. He is one of the most famous lighting technicians on Broadway.

CEILINGS DROPPED

Inasmuch as the Kress rooms on the second floor of the museum were designed especially to accommodate the collection, the installation of the new lighting techniques has required much planning and many consultations by Mr. Feder and local contractors and engineers.

"Ceilings in these rooms have had to be dropped," he said as he checked and rechecked the installations. "The 38 fixtures are to be attached around the perimeter of a dropped panel. These reflectors will provide different degrees of lighting on each painting. Direct lighting is bad, because it gives direct heat and heat is damaging.

"DAYLIGHT FEELING"

"These reflectors will give a natural, warm and daylight feeling. The trick is the use of prints in the reflector bowl."

In order to achieve the special lighting effects Mr. Feder came to Atlanta several months ago to study the rooms where the Kress collection will be ready for public viewing on April 13. In addition, he made extensive studies at New York museums.

Feder got his start in theatrical stage lighting. In the past 20 years he has illuminated about 700 shows, currently including "Time Remembered," "Visit to a Small Planet," and both the Broadway and road productions of "My Fair Lady." He has been engaged to light up the stage in London for the British production of "My Fair Lady" but said that he may not be able to direct that job on the spot. "Commuting between London and Atlanta, in addition to a new job in New York, might be too much," he declared.

"VERY SPECIAL"

"The Atlanta job is very special to me, and since there must be an entirely new type of lighting here, I just can't say what my schedule will be within the next few weeks."

Mr. Feder has lighted many places with special techniques. For instance, a few weeks ago New York opened its new international Arrivals Building at Idlewild Airport with his lighting over a 160-acre plaza.

For the Tishman Building, soon to open in New York, Mr. Feder designed conical reflectors for huge color-corrected mercury vapor bulbs to light the exterior of the building. The lights throw a wide, even beam that makes it possible to read a paper a block away from the light.

SPECIAL DESIGN

He pointed out that for lighting the interior of a commercial building, an architect has the choice of several types of fluorescent lighting, thousands of sizes and shapes of incandescent bulbs and fixtures, and countless combinations of these two. For this reason he finds it necessary to design many special items.

It was when he was in Atlanta last spring attending an electrical meeting that he was approached by Mrs. Granger Hansell, art association president, to consider lighting the galleries for the Kress collection.

NEW YORKERS here for a visit are Mr. and Mrs. William N. Rees of Rye, right, who are pictured with their hosts, Mr. and Mrs. E. Ray Taylor. Mrs. Rees, the former Marianna Adair, and Mrs. Taylor, the former Beverly Bailey, grew up together in Atlanta and are lifelong friends. Initiating a series of parties for the visitors was the cocktail party given by the Taylors at their home on King road.

New Booklet Is Now Available For Teen-Ager and Her Figure

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Teen-agers, a special booklet, "A Girl and Her Figure," was written just for you. And, girls, it's the MOST! Dr. Ruth Leverton, the author, is a nutrition scientist who really takes an interest in your problems.

While each of you has her own timetable for growth and development, girls tend to shoot up tall at an earlier age than boys, Dr. Leverton explains. Your fast-growing years start at age 11. The growth spurt for boys starts from one to three years later. So, from ages 11 to 13, or perhaps 14, you may be taller than boys of your age. Take heart! This will be the only time in your life that you are taller than boys your age. At 15, the boys will be taller again.

GREATEST GAIN

Your greateast gain in height will be around age 12, and after 16 you will not grow much taller, according to this scientist. Boys grow fastest around age 14 and continue to grow until their early twenties.

On the weight score, you can expect to gain as you grow, but you want to gain only enough for normal growth. After 18, a girl of normal weight does not add much more poundage. If she does, it will be in the form of too much fat.

"A Girl and Her Figure" puts teen-agers in-the-know on how to eat for beauty, and makes nutrition exciting and challenging. For example, one story in the booklet is about Frances, who had kept her weight controlled while she grew two inches. Frances advises: "Eat slowly and taste every mouthful. I learned to enjoy the taste of my food beginning with the first mouthful. I think I had been gobbling my first serving of everything. Then I had to have seconds so I could really enjoy the flavor."

Another teen-ager, Caroline, accumulated quite a bit of extra fat before she realized she wasn't going to outgrow being a roly-poly. She had a size 16 appetite, yet her body was meant to be size 10. When she learned to tailor her appetite to right size, she succeeded in losing 12 unwanted pounds.

IDLE MOTOR

Kate and Mary were on the skinny side. They learned to "idle the motor" and save calories, as well as to eat the right foods for building vitality and gaining needed weight.

A variety of foods is needed in the daily meals to meet the nutrient requirements of the body. Dr. Leverton explains it this way: "In your wardrobe, a sweater cannot take the place of a skirt, nor can an extra pair of shoes do the job of a coat. The same is true of the nutrients. Having an extra supply of one cannot make up for a shortage of another."

Every teen-age girl should read this enlightening booklet. A copy of "A Girl and Her Figure" can be obtained by sending 15 cents along with your request to the National Dairy Council, 111 North Canal St., Chicago, Ill.

Woman's Club Sets Luncheon

The Atlanta Woman's Club will hold a past president's luncheon on Monday, March 17, at 12:30 p.m. Mrs. Alva G. Maxwell, Mrs. Monroe F. Swilley Jr. and Mrs. J. Wen Lundeen will take part in the program.

Greek General Reunited With Atlantans

Dobbins Air Force Base formed the setting of a reunion for Dr. and Mrs. John Skandalakis with Gen. Petros Nicolopoulos, commander in chief of the Royal Greek Army.

Gen. Nicolopoulos is touring army bases in this country and while at Ft. Benning he made a surprise visit to his Atlanta friends whom he had not seen since they left Athens four years ago.

Gen. Nicolopoulos was recently awarded the Legion of Merit medal by the U.S. Government.

Visitors Arrive For Tuesday Weddings

Visitors will begin arriving during the weekend for two important weddings on Tuesday, that of Miss Nancy Carter to James Walter Bland Jr. and that of Miss Lane Longino to Kenneth Fristoe.

Mrs. John J. Hanes has already arrived from Charlotte to be matron of honor for her sister, Miss Carter, and Mr. Hanes will join her today. Mr. and Mrs. James W. Bland Sr. arrive tomorrow from Statesboro for their son's wedding and will be guests at the Piedmont Hotel.

Expected for the Longino-Fristoe wedding are the bridegroom-elect's parents, Chaplain and Mrs. K. W. Fristoe of Ft. Bragg, N.C.; Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Bomar of Cushing, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Longino of Miami, the B. P. Longinos of Fort Lauderdale and Miss Beverly Travis of Orlando.

The Roy E. Bowens, Madge and Jack Bowen will come from Swainsboro, Miss Mary Wildes from Brunswick, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Rollins and Paul Crum from Tifton. Dalton guests will include Mr. and Mrs. Clark Jones, Miss Ellen Jones and the Rev. and Mrs. C. M. Lipham, and Macon guests will be the Dan Dunwodys Jr., their children, Dan III and Dele, and Mr. and Mrs. Andy Heyward. The A. R. Lovvorns will arrive from Rome, L. A. Hudson from Athens, Miss Carole Little from Augusta, Miss Deanne Deavours from Leslie, Mrs. Berryman Goodrum from Macon, Col. and Mrs. C. T. B. Harris from Barnesville and Mrs. Mark Kilgore from Loganville.

THOUGH THEY ARE NOT COMING especially for her wedding, Miss Nancy Carter's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Fry of Verona, N.J., will be in Atlanta on Tuesday en route to Florida and will attend the nuptials.

Those former Atlantans, Mr. and Mrs. William Fulghum of Toronto, Canada, also happen to be here en route from Quitman, and will be among the wedding guests.

A SON HAS JOINED the small daughter at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Seth B. Mellen Jr. Born on March 9 at Piedmont Hospital, the baby has been named Seth Baldwin III. Mrs. Mellen is the former Joanne Merritt, daughter of the Edward Merritts.

FOLLOWING A SPRING VACATION TRIP to Houston, Tex., to visit relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Baily and their children, Jan and Bruce Jr., will stop in Atlanta en route to their home in Fishkill, N.Y. They will be guests for several days of Mrs. Baily's mother, Mrs. Frank Stevens, on Peachtree road.

HOSPITAL NOTE—Dr. J. Calvin Weaver is ill at Georgia Baptist Hospital.

THE TWO SMALL DAUGHTERS at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley S. Saunders Jr. are rejoicing over the arrival of a brother, Stanley Stewart III, born March 10 at Georgia Baptist Hospital. Mrs. Saunders is the former Anne Zipplies of Savannah, daughter of Mrs. Paul Zipplies, now of Atlanta. The baby's paternal grandparents are Dr. and Mrs. Stanley S. Saunders of High Point, N.C.

BRIDE-ELECT JUDY EDWARDS will be honor guest when Miss Betty Youngblood and Mrs. William Parr entertain at a lingerie shower this afternoon at the home of Miss Youngblood's parents, the C. R. Youngbloods of Decatur.

Miss Edwards' marriage to Thomas J. Crawford will take place Sunday afternoon at the First Methodist Church of Decatur. The hostesses and bride-elect have been close friends since childhood.

TWO PARTIES have been planned for bride-elect Shirley Heath today. Mrs. W. A. Strozier will entertain at a breakfast at the Alumni Building at Emory and Mrs. Russell Lyle will give a tea at her Alpine road home.

Miss Heath leaves March 21 for her home in Talladega, Ala., where her marriage to Lamar H. Roberts of Atlanta takes place on March 29.

CONGRATULATIONS—To Miss Harriet Cotton, daughter of the Harry S. Cottons of 31 Twenty-Eighth St. and a sophomore at Hollins, for being elected to the legislative branch of the Student Government Assn. there. She will be installed in the late spring and will hold office throughout the coming school year.

WEATHER FORECAST — NEW YORK — Fair weather is predicted for Georgia Saturday, with freezing temperatures expected in scattered areas in north and south portions. Snow flurries are expected for the area from New England and the central Appalachians west through the Great Lakes to the Dakotas, in the Rockies and the mountains of northern California. Showers should fall in the remainder of California. Clear to partly cloudy skies are expected elsewhere.

Atlanta Produce

Trading and receipts were light on the Atlanta produce market Friday morning after fair activity on Thursday according to the A. M. S. Potatoes continued steady to firm tomatoes were scarce; other commodities were mostly unchanged in price. Florida oranges jobbed mostly 2.60 and grapefruit 1.65-185 per half-box carton. Temple oranges in half-boxes were unlimited supply at 3.75.

Sweet potatoes were unchanged with receipts light. Florida cabbage was steady 1.00 per bag. Turnips and greens were in lighter volume. Georgia turnips and mustard sold mostly 1.00-1.25 bushel. Bunched turnips 1.50-2.00 and best to 2.75; kale 1.50 bushel; green onions .75-1.00 dozen; collards were 1.50-2.00 dozen with few best higher. Florida vegetables were mostly in limited supply.

Celery was easier at 2.50-2.75 for 4 dozen and 2.75-3.00 on 3 dozen pascal type; few round-red potatoes in 50-pound bags U.S. No. 1 size A were mostly 3.50 and size B 2.50-3.00; crate escarole was 3.25-3.50 and endive 2.25-2.50 doubledeck crates of cauliflower 12 heads sold 3.00-3.50 mostly 3.25. Snap and pole beans were cleaned up; baskets of radishes 30 film bags were 1.75-2.00; eggplant 9.00-10.50 per bushel and bell peppers medium 11.00-15.00 and some small to very small 6.00-9.00 per bushel. Very light supplies of Cuban cucumbers were unchanged at 9.00-9.50 and fair 7.00-7.50 per bushel basket.

State Student Publications Win Awards

NEW YORK (AP)—Georgia student publications won 12 awards in the annual contest of the Columbia Scholastic Press Assn., for improvement of student writing and publications.

The awards were made during the annual convention of the association, attended by more than 4,500 editors from 35 states. Judging was done by a board of 30 school press authorities who reviewed 1,400 entries.

Georgia winners are:

Senior high schools having 1,000 to 1,500 students: First place awards to the Hornet, Hapeville High School and Blue Star, Avondale High School, Avondale Estates.

JUNIOR-SENIOR

Junior-Senior high schools, 1,000 or less: Lion's Roar, Baker High School, Columbus, medalist award; first place awards to Southerner, Henry Grady High School, Atlanta, and Pitchfork, Marietta High School.

Junior high schools, 1,200 or more students: Second place award to Journal, Lanier Junior High School, Macon.

Girls' private schools, secondary: First place award to Chimes, Westminster School for Girls, Atlanta.

Junior colleges: First place award to Hiltonian, Reinhardt College, Waleska.

UNIVERSITY LEVEL

Senior College-University: First place award to Tiger's Roar, Savannah State College, Savannah.

Departmental Publications: First place award to Enterpriser, Savannah State College, Savannah.

Offset magazines, senior college-university: Fourth place award to the Bulletin, Savannah State College, Savannah.

Smog Is Problem In Many Cities

Several devices have been developed to minimize the escape of gases and dust from factories. Many of these processes are highly technical and costly but we know no other way to minimize industrial air pollution.

Automobile fumes are another potent source of air pollution. In Los Angeles, this is a bigger problem than in other cities because there is no rapid transit system; over 2½ million autos are in use and 168,000 use a single freeway daily.

Seven per cent of the gasoline put into automobiles comes through the exhaust pipe unburned. These fumes, plus those coming from refineries, add up to more than 2,000 tons of hydrocarbon and other organic material daily. Such chemicals, as well as sulphur, nitrogen containing compounds, arsenic, lead and others constitute a major health menace.

Ten years ago smog in Los Angeles was the butt of many jokes by radio comedians. The problem has gone beyond this stage and is spreading; San Francisco, Detroit, New York, Philadelphia and Chicago are beginning to have trouble. The waste contains different chemicals and every city, therefore, has its own problem.

Smog is due to the growth of our industries, motor pools, and our greater use of heating facilities. The housewife has been kicking for years about the dirt but recently the problem has extended beyond her domain. Smog irritates eyes, nose, throat and lungs; many individuals become depressed by the pall and are unable to work until it lifts.

In some areas, the chemicals are so toxic they kill crops and vegetation; severe pollution has poisoned cattle and humans. In 1952, 3,000 persons died in London from smog. There was no breeze and the polluted air remained over the city. We never know when weather conditions of this kind will occur again, bringing a similar catastrophe.

Repeated exposure irritates the lungs, causing chronic bronchitis. Many medical authorities believe that lung cancer may result from continued air pollution. Physicians in Los Angeles recognize poisoning from smog whenever the patient complains of irritation of the eyes and respiratory tract along with chest pain, shortness of breath, and nausea.

Victims of respiratory disease, heart trouble, anxiety or allergy are more susceptible. The same can be said of the aged.

DeKalb Schools Granted $106,829

The DeKalb County school system has been awarded $106,829 in U.S. aid for federally impacted school areas, Rep. Davis of Stone Mountain announced Saturday.

Davis was notified of the grant by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, which said the $106,829 immediately available is part of a tentative allotment of $142,438 for the DeKalb schools in 1958.

DeKalb school officials said the money will be used for maintenance and operations. They added some federal money has been received each year upon application.

U.S. Meddling, Hungary Says

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Communist Hungary Friday accused the United States of attempting to interfere in its domestic affairs by seeking to determine the fate of 21 persons who figured in the October 1956 revolution.

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge announced yesterday that Hungary had failed to provide information on a list of persons despite an explicit invitation to make an inquiry.

"Eleven-year-old boy shoots father who reprimanded Him for taking the family car."—News Item.

"Children should honor and obey . . . their parents" but our world today . . . is changed, for better or for worse . . . who knows? But we are not averse . . . to changes, they must come, we know . . . but even then, a child should show . . . some gratitude or some respect . . . a duty lots of them neglect.

In family relationships . . . the parent often comes to grips . . . with problems, where the child's concerned . . . for many children haven't learned . . . that at some point along the way . . . there'll be SOMEONE they MUST obey . . . and if they doubt it, they can find . . . thousands of prisoners behind . . . the bars of steel and walls of stone . . . who used to say, "Let me alone . . . I've got no use for people who . . . say what I should or shouldn't do."

The parent also should be kind . . . and do his best to keep in mind . . . that children need his love and care . . . and, after all, it isn't fair . . . to scold a child, because he can . . . it's more becoming for a man . . . to speak with kindness to his son . . . for HE might have a loaded gun.

How's Your Big Boss At Painting Picture?

By ALLAN HEAD

The Atlanta Art Assn. is showing two exhibits of paintings by business and professional executives.

One is by Atlanta executives. The other, entitled "From the Executive's Easel," is touring the country. Association officials say it's the first time they have had exhibits grouped on this basis.

But the touring exhibit, sponsored by a Milwaukee firm, Manpower, Inc., finds most of its better selections barely slipping into what might be called a "semi-professional" category.

Dr. Reginald Poland, Atlanta Art Assn.'s director of museums, toured the 35-pointing exhibit twice—decided he could pick 14 as being "creditable . . . fairly professional."

Atlanta Art Institute instructor Joel Reeves picked three as worthy of comment.

Perhaps outstanding in this exhibit are two light-filled pictures by Frank Hinman Jr., M.D., of the University of California. One is a landscape, the other a roof view of San Francisco chimneys.

Atlanta business and professional men turned in a high percentage of realistic art, appeared to shy from the abstract.

However, one of the most professional in this exhibit is an untitled non-objective painting by Edward A. Moulthrop, chief architectural designer, Robert & Co. Associates. The work is a study in overlapping squares and rectangles, cleverly arranged and colored to lead the eye more deeply into the picture.

Two darkly somber, highly skilled works—a self portrait and a late-evening landscape—are by D. D. Ingersoll, a maintenance supervisor for the Atlanta School Board.

Tucker Wayne of Tucker Wayne & Co. has carefully done portraits in the exhibit—"Dean 'Malone" and "My Fair Lady."

"Carlson's Light" and "American Veldt," both by Edward H. Preston, Atlanta engineering supervisor, AT&T long lines department, also rank high among the better works on display.

Other Atlantans represented are J. L. Edwards, E. C. Warren, Ralph Lawton, Pat Jones and William Wilner. Two paintings are by Walter C. Hill, chairman of the executive board, Atlanta Art Association.

Mrs. Mann Named Toombs Teacher of Year

Constitution State News Service

LYONS — Mrs. Herman C. Mann, Lyons Elementary School librarian, has been named Teacher of the Year for the Toombs County school system, which includes all the schools of the county except the Vidalia system.

James H. Braziel, Toombs Central vocational teacher, and Mrs. Wilbur Gibbs, Lyons High School teacher, were runners-up for this annual award.

Mrs. Mann is mother of two graduates of the Lyons school and has 15 years' service as teacher and librarian at the Lyons school.

She is active in PTA work and has served as president and secretary. She is one of the organizers of the Cub Scout projects here and has served as den mother for several years. She is a member of the Methodist church and Wesleyan Guild.

Belgian Queen To Visit Soviet

BRUSSELS (AP)—Belgium's Dowager Queen Elizabeth, 82, will fly to Moscow this month to attend a music festival, court sources said Friday.

She thus will become the first member of a European royal family to visit Russia since the 1917 revolution.

County Road Speeds Cut

Speed limits have been set for several additional Fulton County roads by the State Highway Board on recommendation of Fulton Public Safety Director Nick Eason.

The state board set these limits:

Forty-five miles per hour on Cascade road from the west limits of Atlanta to Industrial boulevard; 40 miles per hour on Stonewall-Tell road from Roosevelt Highway to Campbellton road, and 35 miles per hour on Highbrook drive, Belle Isle drive and High Point road.

Eason said a 40-mile per hour limit also has been requested on Welcome All road from Roosevelt highway to Atlanta's city limits.

The 45-mile zone granted on Cascade road was one mile shorter than that requested by the county, Eason explained. The county had requested speed zoning for 4.9 miles of Cascade from the Atlanta limits to cut down crashes on a curve at the intersection of Boatrock road.
